Three awards, including for the first time for the outstanding senior student, will highlight a banquet tonight which will climax the annual Jaycee-sponsored "Youth In Government Day" here.

The entire senior class was involved in some phase of the project supervised by Frank Moss, high school English instructor.

Hard Fighting Rages Northwest Of Saigon

Cong Shells Hit 60 Bases And Towns

U.S. Officers Say Period To Saturday Is 'Critical One'

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy fighting raged today at four points northwest of Saigon, and Viet Cong forces shelled more than 60 allied bases and towns, including the old imperial capital of Hue.

U.S. officers said the increased action signaled the start of the third phase of the spring offensive the enemy launched Feb. 23. They said the period from now until Saturday was a "critical one," and the alert status at some American bases was increased.

Military analysts said Saigon still appeared to be the Viet Cong's main objective. They said the main bodies of four enemy divisions—poised to the west, northwest, north and northeast of the capital—had made no serious move toward the city but that local regional forces were "gravitating" from the south and east toward the capital military district.

"When it's time to attack Saigon," said one analyst, "the subregional forces will spearhead the attack, while the forces from the divisions will try to maneuver at the opportune moment and try to follow in."

The four fights in which American forces reported killing 120 North Vietnamese troops centered in a relatively small area of Tay Ninh Province, as did a large number of the rocket and mortar attacks. U.S. casualties in the ground fighting were reported as five killed and 20 wounded, all in a strong infantry attack on an American base 53 miles northwest of Saigon.

The North Vietnamese 1st Division sent about 400 troops against a patrol base of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division called Landing Zone Grant. Reports from the field said about 50 North Vietnamese were killed in the second attempt in four nights to overrun the base under cover of a heavy barrage from 120mm mortars.

The attackers were driven back after two hours of pounding by gunship helicopters and artillery. Last Saturday, 154 enemy troops and 11 Americans were reported killed in an attack on the base.

Two miles farther north, other troops of the 1st Air Cavalry division backed by helicopter gunships reported killing 14 enemy soldiers without suffering any casualties.

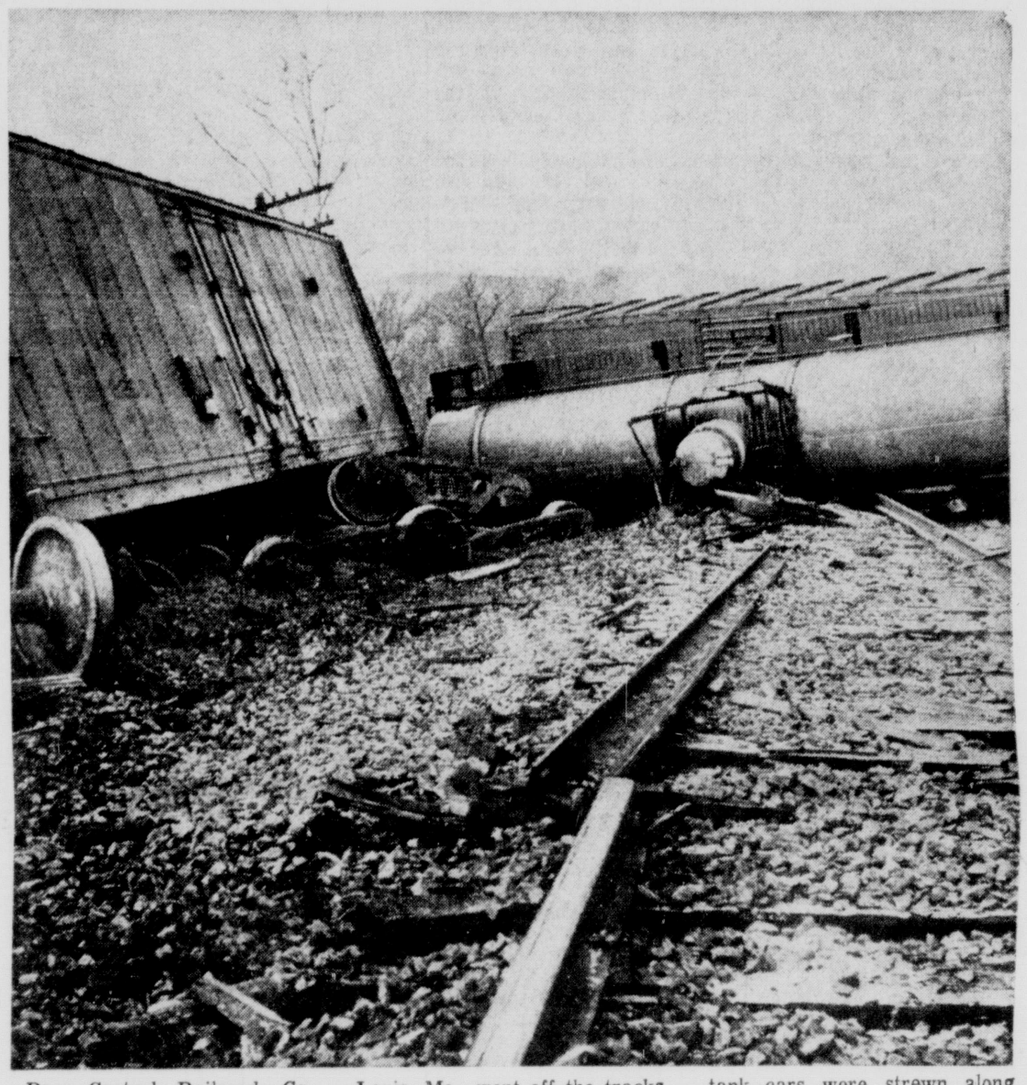
23 Cars Derail At Industry



Penn Central Railroad Co. tracks between Midland and Beaver were blocked today by a tangle of 23 derailed cars which left the rails about 4 a.m. at Industry.

No one was injured in the mishap which occurred as the rear section of an 89-car freight headed for Conway from St. Louis, Mo., went off the tracks near the St. Christine Catholic Church.

Railroad officials at the scene said they did not know what caused the derailment, but were continuing investigation.

S. W. Six of St. Louis was engineer of the train.

Box cars, flat bed cars and tank cars were strewn along both sides of the tracks, some down an embankment toward the Ohio River, others piled on each other or on their sides. Rails were torn and twisted at various sites along the wreckage area.

Authorities said work crews hope to have traffic moving again by tonight.

Chester's Budget Soars To Record

A budget of $83,897 for fiscal 1970 — the largest in history — was approved Monday night by Chester Council.

Effective July 1, the increase will reflect raises for police, street workers and the City Hall caretakers.

POLICE CHIEF Joseph "Bill" Cornell and his son, Patrolman Jerry Cornell, will take their $300 yearly raises in the form of insurance.

The chief's salary is $6,500 and the patrolman's $6,000.

Street employes will be raised $300 a year and caretakers $200 a year.

The budget calls for $10,000 in street department employes' salaries.

The building maintenance budget, which reflects the caretakers' salary, stands at $2,800. The caretakers also are provided with an apartment in the city building.

Other salaries will remain the same. They are: Mayor, $900; clerk, $600; treasurer, $600 (clerk); police judge, $600; city attorney, $600; councilmen $600 each.

The police judge salary is only an estimate, since the mayor receives $5 of the costs collected with each fine and the figure could be higher or lower than the budget estimate.

Decision Due On Sentinel Missile Plan

Report By Nixon May Be Made On Radio-Television

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon called in Republican congressional leaders today amid indications a decision was imminent on deployment of the controversial Sentinel missile system (ABM).

There were some indications, too, as Nixon ended a three-day Florida stay Monday night that the decision he promised last week might be announced in a national radio-television appearance.

Nixon said at the outset of his Florida weekend that he would be spending his time studying the ABM and he spent his last day at Key Biscayne discussing it with Henry A. L. Kissinger, his special assistant for national security affairs.

The President's options appeared to include delaying deployment of the $5-billion system still longer, perhaps until after disarmament talks can get started with the Soviets; cancel the project altogether; or go ahead with a modified version.

Mrs. King Insists Murder Work Of More Than One

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The widow of Martin Luther King Jr., says his assassination was the work of more than one person and is still on the conscience of the nation despite the sentencing of James Earl Ray to 99 years in prison.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, who took over leadership of Dr. King's civil rights organization, says he is convinced by Ray's admission of guilt itself that the murder was part of a conspracy.

"There are the unanswered questions," comments author William Bradford Huie, who wrote Ray's biography while Ray was awaiting trial on the murder charge.

But while these and other dissenting voices were being heard Dist. Atty. Philip M. Canale reiterated at a post sentencing interview Monday night that the state had uncovered no evidence at all of conspiracy.

Canale said the sums of money Ray spent hopping around the United States and Canada and finally to Europe, which seemed to some suspiciously large, probably came from the assassin's own efforts as a smuggler and holdup man.

Ray "got money from several sources," Canale told newsmen, and saved a "fairly substantial sum of money while in prison" in Missouri before the escape which led ultimately to King's death by a rifle bullet on the balcony of a Memphis motel.

Canale said his investigators believed Ray mailed the money out of the prison before he escaped.

Astronauts Advised Storm Abating In Recovery Area

BULLETIN
SPACE CENTER, Houston AP — A weatherman on the scene disagreed with Mission Control meteorologists today and predicted that winds would be too high for a safe landing of the Apollo 9 spaceship in the main Atlantic Ocean recovery zone on Thursday.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Weathermen flashed the good news to the Apollo 9 astronauts today that a storm was abating in their Atlantic Ocean recovery area and that conditions looked good for their return to earth Thursday.

The welcome information came as Air Force Cols. James A. McDivitt and David R. Scott and civilian Russell L. Schweickart whirled through a leisurely day, their eighth in space.

The flight plan called for picture taking, navigation checks and rest as the astronauts continued to test out the Apollo command ship to prove its durability for a 10-day man to the moon mission.

Astronaut Stuart Roosa, the capsule communicator in mission control, told the spacemen "the weather looks like it's shaping up real well for Thursday morning. It's gonna be pretty good."

Commander McDivitt replied: "That's fine and dandy. Stu, you did good work."

Roosa reported a forecast of "winds of 15 knots and seas four to five feet with a few higher swells."

This is well within the limits of 28-knot winds and eight-foot waves that flight contollers consider acceptable.

Public Safety, Income Tax Bills Waited In Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio General Assembly today is expected to receive bills to create a cabinet-level Department of Public Safety and to allow counties to levy income taxes earmarked for education.

Rep. Robert E. Levitt, R-91 Canton, is expected to be the main sponsor of an administration bill to broaden the power of the governor through the creation of a new department.

The public safety bill would put under the governor's control five crime agencies now in the attorney generals' office, the Ohio Highway Patrol, the state fire marshal's office and Civil Defense.

"It is extremely important management to combine safety related functions into one administrative department," Levitt said.

The Canton Republican said he did not feel Gov. James A. Rhodes, who proposed the creation of a public safety deparment in his Feb. 5 State of the State speech, was politically motivated.

Joint Operation Ruled Illegal

Newspaper Industry Set Back On Heels By Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rocked back on its heels by the Supreme Court, the newspaper industry turned today to Congress to save joint operating agreements between editorially competing dailies in 21 cities.

The Court's 7-1 disapproval of the two Tucson, Ariz., newspapers' business department merger cast a long shadow of doubt on similar pacts. Their survival may rest on a drive for new legislation.

And at least one senator, Democrat Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, said he will introduce a bill Wednesday to authorize joint commercial operations of newspapers if one partner is deemed failing.

But it is anybody's guess whether Inouye's bill or others already introduced in this 91st Congress will get any farther than proposed legislation that died last year.

The idea is to provide an antitrust exemption for commercial pacts between otherwise competing newspapers if one of the papers' survival is doubtful.

The industry maintains the public benefits because an editorial voice that would be stilled by financial death is kept alive.

In Tucson, operators of the Daily Star and the Daily Citizen agree in 1940 to merge their production, circulation business and advertising departments for 25 years. In 1953 the agreement was extended until 1990.

Justice William O. Douglas' opinion for the court found obvious antitrust violations and said an exemption could not be justified through use of what is called the failing company defense.

That is, Douglas said, there was no indication owners of the Citizen were contemplating a liquidation prior to the joint agreement. "There is no evidence," he said, "that the joint operating agreement was the last straw at which Citizen grasped."

Douglas described the failing company defense as "a judicially created doctrine." And without actually inviting passage of legislation he noted that Congress had taken no action on any of the proposed bills.

Reflecting on the ruling, Jack R. Howard, president of Scripps-Howard newspapers, said enactment of new legislation is imperative. He said operations such as the one in Tucson have ensured editorial competition in cities, in some cases for more than three decades.

Arthur B. Hanson, general counsel for the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said ANPA will seek to have Congress enact "appropriate remedial legislation."

And Richard J. MacLaury, a San Francisco lawyer who argued for the Tucson newspapers in the Court, said in a telephone interview:

"The Court apparently felt that it was required by precedent to declare the Tucson agreement invalid. This leaves the publishers no alternative but to ask Congress to adopt new legislation which will enable two newspapers to continue publishing in rivarly with each other not only in Tucson but in 21 other cities throughout the country."

But Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said the court ruling should signal the end of the Senate controversy over the failing newspaper act.

"That ought to take care of that issue," said Hart, chairman of the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee.

Hart has from the outset opposed any antitrust law exemption for commercial consolidation of newspapers.

Inouye's bill, virtually identical to one sponsored in the last Congress by former Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., would define a failing newspaper as one which "appears unlikely to remain or become a financially sound publication."

It would waive antitrust objections if one or more of the papers involved in a joint operation met that definition.

Inouye said the Supreme Court ruling "came as no surprise," and demonstrates the reasons he wants Congressional action.

The Honolulu newspapers, the Advertiser and Star-Bulletin, have a joint commercial operating agreement. "Many of us are convinced that without remedial legislation, Hawaii may find itself with one major newspaper," Inouye said.

He argued, as did a parade of witnesses before Hart's subcommittee during extended hearings on the issue, that joint commercial agreements are in some cases necessary to provide divergent editorial voices.

It was the Tucson case which originally led to the Hayden proposal. This produced the Senate hearings—which filled seven volumes and ran some 3,400 pages.

Ultimately, over Hart's objection, the subcommittee approved the Hayden bill with an added proviso forbidding predatory or unfair practices by jointly operated newspapers.

That went to the Senate Judiciary Committee, which took no action.

Inouye said he assumed there would be further hearings on the issue once his bill is introduced, but a spokesman for Hart said the Michigan senator had no plans to reopen the matter in his subcommittee.

Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., a co-sponsor of the original bill, said he will join Inouye in introducing the new measure. Fannin said the legislation would preserve the Tucson agreement.

This may mean some alteration of the measure, which originally provided for the reopening of any district court decree against a joint operating agreement.

Psychologist Cites Sirhan As Man Wanting To Destroy

That evaluation of the mind of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was presented Monday by Dr. Martin Schorr, a clinical psychologist, to the jury that must decide whether Sirhan had the mental capacity to plan Kennedy's murder. Sirhan's defenders hoped to save him from the gas chamber by their claim that he did not. Premeditation must be proved for conviction on the first-degree murder charge.

Schorr was scheduled to continue his testimony today.

Perhaps the most attentive person in the courtroom as the trial went into its 10th week was Sirhan. He laughed self-consciously as the psychologist described the defendant's reactions to ink blot tests projected on a screen.

"He feels he has a special kind of insight of what's wrong and right," said Schorr. "I asked him what he felt and he said, 'There's nothing wrong with me.'"

Schorr described Sirhan as a paranoiac, an individual who "protects himself from the stresses and strains and demands of society by behaving in a highly evasive or guarded manner."

Then he gave support to the defense contention that Sirhan's childhood in war-torn Palestine damaged his personality.

"The paranoid development is a long insiduous process," Schorr said.

"Paranoid people are usually not stupid, they are usually quite bright," said Schorr. In Sirhan's case: "He is highly aggressive . . . there are violent strivings inside that seek expression."

Joint Operation Ruled Illegal

Newspaper Industry Set Back On Heels By Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rocked back on its heels by the Supreme Court, the newspaper industry turned today to Congress to save joint operating agreements between editorially competing dailies in 21 cities.

The Court's 7-1 disapproval of the two Tucson, Ariz., newspapers' business department merger cast a long shadow of doubt on similar pacts. Their survival may rest on a drive for new legislation.

And at least one senator, Democrat Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, said he will introduce a bill Wednesday to authorize joint commercial operations of newspapers if one partner is deemed failing.

But it is anybody's guess whether Inouye's bill or others already introduced in this 91st Congress will get any farther than proposed legislation that died last year.

The idea is to provide an antitrust exemption for commercial pacts between otherwise competing newspapers if one of the papers' survival is doubtful.

The industry maintains the public benefits because an editorial voice that would be stilled by financial death is kept alive.

In Tucson, operators of the Daily Star and the Daily Citizen agree in 1940 to merge their production, circulation business and advertising departments for 25 years. In 1953 the agreement was extended until 1990.

Justice William O. Douglas' opinion for the court found obvious antitrust violations and said an exemption could not be justified through use of what is called the failing company defense.

That is, Douglas said, there was no indication owners of the Citizen were contemplating a liquidation prior to the joint agreement. "There is no evidence," he said, "that the joint operating agreement was the last straw at which Citizen grasped."

Douglas described the failing company defense as "a judicially created doctrine." And without actually inviting passage of legislation he noted that Congress had taken no action on any of the proposed bills.

Reflecting on the ruling, Jack R. Howard, president of Scripps-Howard newspapers, said enactment of new legislation is imperative. He said operations such as the one in Tucson have ensured editorial competition in cities, in some cases for more than three decades.

Arthur B. Hanson, general counsel for the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said ANPA will seek to have Congress enact "appropriate remedial legislation."

And Richard J. MacLaury, a San Francisco lawyer who argued for the Tucson newspapers in the Court, said in a telephone interview:

"The Court apparently felt that it was required by precedent to declare the Tucson agreement invalid. This leaves the publishers no alternative but to ask Congress to adopt new legislation which will enable two newspapers to continue publishing in rivarly with each other not only in Tucson but in 21 other cities throughout the country."

But Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said the court ruling should signal the end of the Senate controversy over the failing newspaper act.

"That ought to take care of that issue," said Hart, chairman of the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee.

Hart has from the outset opposed any antitrust law exemption for commercial consolidation of newspapers.

Inouye's bill, virtually identical to one sponsored in the last Congress by former Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., would define a failing newspaper as one which "appears unlikely to remain or become a financially sound publication."

It would waive antitrust objections if one or more of the papers involved in a joint operation met that definition.

Inouye said the Supreme Court ruling "came as no surprise," and demonstrates the reasons he wants Congressional action.

The Honolulu newspapers, the Advertiser and Star-Bulletin, have a joint commercial operating agreement. "Many of us are convinced that without remedial legislation, Hawaii may find itself with one major newspaper," Inouye said.

He argued, as did a parade of witnesses before Hart's subcommittee during extended hearings on the issue, that joint commercial agreements are in some cases necessary to provide divergent editorial voices.

It was the Tucson case which originally led to the Hayden proposal. This produced the Senate hearings—which filled seven volumes and ran some 3,400 pages.

Ultimately, over Hart's objection, the subcommittee approved the Hayden bill with an added proviso forbidding predatory or unfair practices by jointly operated newspapers.

That went to the Senate Judiciary Committee, which took no action.

Inouye said he assumed there would be further hearings on the issue once his bill is introduced, but a spokesman for Hart said the Michigan senator had no plans to reopen the matter in his subcommittee.

Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., a co-sponsor of the original bill, said he will join Inouye in introducing the new measure. Fannin said the legislation would preserve the Tucson agreement.

This may mean some alteration of the measure, which originally provided for the reopening of any district court decree against a joint operating agreement.

Psychologist Cites Sirhan As Man Wanting To Destroy

That evaluation of the mind of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was presented Monday by Dr. Martin Schorr, a clinical psychologist, to the jury that must decide whether Sirhan had the mental capacity to plan Kennedy's murder. Sirhan's defenders hoped to save him from the gas chamber by their claim that he did not. Premeditation must be proved for conviction on the first-degree murder charge.

Schorr was scheduled to continue his testimony today.

Perhaps the most attentive person in the courtroom as the trial went into its 10th week was Sirhan. He laughed self-consciously as the psychologist described the defendant's reactions to ink blot tests projected on a screen.

"He feels he has a special kind of insight of what's wrong and right," said Schorr. "I asked him what he felt and he said, 'There's nothing wrong with me.'"

Schorr described Sirhan as a paranoiac, an individual who "protects himself from the stresses and strains and demands of society by behaving in a highly evasive or guarded manner."

Then he gave support to the defense contention that Sirhan's childhood in war-torn Palestine damaged his personality.

"The paranoid development is a long insiduous process," Schorr said.

"Paranoid people are usually not stupid, they are usually quite bright," said Schorr. In Sirhan's case: "He is highly aggressive . . . there are violent strivings inside that seek expression."

Gov. Rhodes Demands 'Black Lung' Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes demanded Monday an investigation of the "black lung" disease among Ohio coal miners.

"I want to know if our present Ohio laws are adequate with respect to this health problem of miners," Rhodes said.

"Black lung" disease—or pneumoconiosis — is prevalent among miners exposed to excessive coal dust.

Urged By Chamber

Lisbon Ponders Annexation Plan

LISBON — Annexation of territory south, east and north of Lisbon is being proposed by the Lisbon Area Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Clyde B. Pike Monday night asked Council to meet with the Chamber and the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs regarding the proposal. Councilmen left it to the mayor to arrange a meeting.

The territory being considered would more than double the community's present size, according to Solicitor Joseph Baronzzi, who will prepare petitions when maps and descriptions of the territory are ready.

THIS WOULD take in Jordanville across the creek from Lisbon, the industries east of Jordanville and the motels, homes and Ohio Highway Patrol Post 15 on Route 30 east.

The east boundary would be the township line north to the middle of Section 13, then west a half section, then north to the southern edge of the Deemer property in Section 12.

From that point the perimeter runs west along the north side of the Andric property and between the Kenmuir and G. V. Weinstock properties to Franklin Square Rd., then north to Adams Rd., then west across Route 45 to the corner of Sections 10 and 11.

The west line would be the line between Sections 10 and 11 and 14 and 15, across Route 30 and the Canton hill and south to Route 164 south of here.

Baronzzi said the petitions will be prepared for separate areas. No effort will be made to get signers in the Canton Hill area, he said, because of the contemplated relocation and improvement of Route 30.

On the recommendation of Ray Beers of its fire committee, Council authorized the fire department to buy three coats at $39.70 each from the Warren Fire Equipment Co. and two pairs of boots at $28 a pair from the Lisbon Boot Shop.

Council also authorized 16 firemen to attend the Columbiana County Firemen's Association training school April 27 and May 4 at Calcutta. Lisbon was host last year for the annual training course set up by the Ohio Department of Education. The registration fee of $3 covers lunch and instructional material.

COUNCILMAN Willis Coleman relayed a complaint from William Carlisle that the street crew had cut down a maple tree inside his property line. The mayor said he had talked with Carlisle and told him the administration will "make things right" if a check of the street line shows the tree was in Carlisle's yard.

Clerk - Treasurer John Ebert told Council that the American LaFrance Co. has not sent a service representative to inspect the 1941 fire truck, although he has written and called the firm.

Council ordered the inspection last July when firemen reported the truck is in bad condition and should be replaced. Council last night directed Ebert to contact the company again and ask it to send a mechanic as soon as possible. The village has no service contract with LaFrance.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 12-year-old boy fatally shot his father during a domestic quarrel at the family's home Monday night, police reported.

Police said a son, John, then shot his father.

The next meeting will be April 13 at 8 p.m. in the annex.

Road Crews Remain Out

Hancock County roads were slippery in spots today, but highway crews were doing little to alleviate the situation, a district official of the West Virginia Road Commission said.

Pickets continue to appear occasionally at the Hancock garage in Manchester as the strike of maintenance workers across West Virginia moves into its ninth day.

District officials at Moundsville said Weirton and Chester city employes were salting and cindering streets and the two municipalities, but no work was being done on the highways around the county. It was pointed out, however, that apparently there had been few traffic problems.

The walkout, which began March 3 over union recognition, appears no closer to settlement now than at the beginning when most of the 4,000 maintenance men struck, forcing all but 13 of the SRC's 55 county offices to close.

Thomas E. Sullivan, 27, of 2146 Michigan Ave. was fined $15 and costs on a charge of speeding 50 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone and ordered to pay the court costs on a charge of driving with an expired operator's permit. Minority Race Survey Report

Ohio's Leading Nearby States In Negro Teachers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 700-page report released Monday shows Ohio's public schools employ more Negro teachers on the average than neighboring states.

The minority race survey report, presented to the Ohio Board of Education, showed Ohio has more than 6,500 Negro teachers, or 5.84 per cent of the total of 111,325 certified school employes.

An average of 3.6 per cent Negro teachers in the mid United States is reported by the National Education Association.

The report, however, gave no figures from surrounding states to support the claim.

The report said the demand for Negro teachers in Ohio greatly exceeds the supply. This, the report said, creates "abundant opportunities for minority race persons to serve in professional and nonprofessional capacities."

The survey was compiled by the office of Robert O. Greer, assistant superintendent of urban education in the State Department of Education.

According to the report, nearly 9.5 per cent of the faculty is Negro in 163 Ohio city school districts where the largest number of Negro students live.

Smaller communities and school districts show slightly more than 1.5 per cent of enrollment from minority groups. These communities and districts the report said, have less than 1 per cent of their faculty from minority races.

The report cites Ohio Department of Development figures that Negroes make up 9.5 per cent of Ohio's population and added that nearly 12 per cent of all Ohio students are Negro.

The report says Negroes represent 10.4 per cent of the total clerical and auxiliary staffs in public schools.

". . . potential opportunities for minority group persons to gain employment in the nonprofessional positions of school districts continues to be promising," according to the report.

Greer told the board the survery cost $20,000. He said another $6,000 to $20,000 would be needed to make a detailed analysis.

In other action, the board:

—Appointed a 22-member advisory council on vocational education to evaluate and advise the Board of Education on vocational education.

— Approved a $615,679 program to assist school districts to attract and train additional teachers and teacher aides.

— Approved appointment of Jack V. Hutchison, now on the staff at Bowling Green State University, to a new post of assistant superintendent for vocational rehabilitation, at $19,552 annually.

—Appointed Russell A. Working to head an expanded research, Planning and Development Division, at an annual salmary of $15,600. Russell now works in the department's research division.

Gov. Rhodes Demands 'Black Lung' Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes demanded Monday an investigation of the "black lung" disease among Ohio coal miners.

"I want to know if our present Ohio laws are adequate with respect to this health problem of miners," Rhodes said.

"Black lung" disease—or pneumoconiosis — is prevalent among miners exposed to excessive coal dust.

Lisbon Ponders Annexation Plan

LISBON — Annexation of territory south, east and north of Lisbon is being proposed by the Lisbon Area Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Clyde B. Pike Monday night asked Council to meet with the Chamber and the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs regarding the proposal. Councilmen left it to the mayor to arrange a meeting.

The territory being considered would more than double the community's present size, according to Solicitor Joseph Baronzzi, who will prepare petitions when maps and descriptions of the territory are ready.

THIS WOULD take in Jordanville across the creek from Lisbon, the industries east of Jordanville and the motels, homes and Ohio Highway Patrol Post 15 on Route 30 east.

The east boundary would be the township line north to the middle of Section 13, then west a half section, then north to the southern edge of the Deemer property in Section 12.

From that point the perimeter runs west along the north side of the Andric property and between the Kenmuir and G. V. Weinstock properties to Franklin Square Rd., then north to Adams Rd., then west across Route 45 to the corner of Sections 10 and 11.

The west line would be the line between Sections 10 and 11 and 14 and 15, across Route 30 and the Canton hill and south to Route 164 south of here.

Baronzzi said the petitions will be prepared for separate areas. No effort will be made to get signers in the Canton Hill area, he said, because of the contemplated relocation and improvement of Route 30.

On the recommendation of Ray Beers of its fire committee, Council authorized the fire department to buy three coats at $39.70 each from the Warren Fire Equipment Co. and two pairs of boots at $28 a pair from the Lisbon Boot Shop.

Council also authorized 16 firemen to attend the Columbiana County Firemen's Association training school April 27 and May 4 at Calcutta. Lisbon was host last year for the annual training course set up by the Ohio Department of Education. The registration fee of $3 covers lunch and instructional material.

COUNCILMAN Willis Coleman relayed a complaint from William Carlisle that the street crew had cut down a maple tree inside his property line. The mayor said he had talked with Carlisle and told him the administration will "make things right" if a check of the street line shows the tree was in Carlisle's yard.

Clerk - Treasurer John Ebert told Council that the American LaFrance Co. has not sent a service representative to inspect the 1941 fire truck, although he has written and called the firm.

Council ordered the inspection last July when firemen reported the truck is in bad condition and should be replaced. Council last night directed Ebert to contact the company again and ask it to send a mechanic as soon as possible. The village has no service contract with LaFrance.

Latham, according to police, grabbed a kitchen knife and threatened his 37-year-old wife, Gloria.

Police said a son, John, then shot his father.

The next meeting will be April 13 at 8 p.m. in the annex.

Road Crews Remain Out

Hancock County roads were slippery in spots today, but highway crews were doing little to alleviate the situation, a district official of the West Virginia Road Commission said.

Pickets continue to appear occasionally at the Hancock garage in Manchester as the strike of maintenance workers across West Virginia moves into its ninth day.

District officials at Moundsville said Weirton and Chester city employes were salting and cindering streets and the two municipalities, but no work was being done on the highways around the county. It was pointed out, however, that apparently there had been few traffic problems.

The walkout, which began March 3 over union recognition, appears no closer to settlement now than at the beginning when most of the 4,000 maintenance men struck, forcing all but 13 of the SRC's 55 county offices to close.

Minority Race Survey Report

Ohio's Leading Nearby States In Negro Teachers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 700-page report released Monday shows Ohio's public schools employ more Negro teachers on the average than neighboring states.

The minority race survey report, presented to the Ohio Board of Education, showed Ohio has more than 6,500 Negro teachers, or 5.84 per cent of the total of 111,325 certified school employes.

An average of 3.6 per cent Negro teachers in the mid United States is reported by the National Education Association.

The report, however, gave no figures from surrounding states to support the claim.

The report said the demand for Negro teachers in Ohio greatly exceeds the supply. This, the report said, creates "abundant opportunities for minority race persons to serve in professional and nonprofessional capacities."

The survey was compiled by the office of Robert O. Greer, assistant superintendent of urban education in the State Department of Education.

According to the report, nearly 9.5 per cent of the faculty is Negro in 163 Ohio city school districts where the largest number of Negro students live.

Smaller communities and school districts show slightly more than 1.5 per cent of enrollment from minority groups. These communities and districts the report said, have less than 1 per cent of their faculty from minority races.

The report cites Ohio Department of Development figures that Negroes make up 9.5 per cent of Ohio's population and added that nearly 12 per cent of all Ohio students are Negro.

The report says Negroes represent 10.4 per cent of the total clerical and auxiliary staffs in public schools.

". . . potential opportunities for minority group persons to gain employment in the nonprofessional positions of school districts continues to be promising," according to the report.

Greer told the board the survery cost $20,000. He said another $6,000 to $20,000 would be needed to make a detailed analysis.

In other action, the board:

—Appointed a 22-member advisory council on vocational education to evaluate and advise the Board of Education on vocational education.

— Approved a $615,679 program to assist school districts to attract and train additional teachers and teacher aides.

— Approved appointment of Jack V. Hutchison, now on the staff at Bowling Green State University, to a new post of assistant superintendent for vocational rehabilitation, at $19,552 annually.

—Appointed Russell A. Working to head an expanded research, Planning and Development Division, at an annual salmary of $15,600. Russell now works in the department's research division.

Barking Up The Wrong Tree

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, speaking for the Nixon administration, has taken a step toward curbing inflation that is more noteworthy as an expression of hope than as an attack on a serious economic problem.

Speaking to the Economic Club of New York, Mr. McCracken called on business and labor to use restraint in raising prices and wages.

HE SAID business and unions "face a new ball game" and 1969 wage and price decisions "must be consistent with the economic environment of the future which will be less inflationary."

The former University of Michigan economics professor rejected the wage guideline policy used by both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations in unsuccessful attempts to hold wage and price increases at acceptable levels.

Economic advisers had set the acceptable increase at 3.2 per cent during both the Democratic administrations.

Mr. McCracken said "High-level man hours spent in cajolery (to keep business and labor within this guideline) might, at least so history suggests, be better spent dealing with the fundamentals that produce and inflationary environment."

In spite of his disdain for the Kennedy-Johnson guidelines, Mr. McCracken is, in effect, asking for the same thing in basically the same manner.

The difference is the lack of a numerical guideline on the part of the Nixon administration.

The two previous administrations warned business and labor they faced serious trouble if guidelines were ignored. Labor unions sought and got record contracts and prices went up accordingly.

Mr. McCracken warned business and unions if they ignored inflation and refused to try and stem it, they would face "uncomfortably soft markets" and "court the risk of unemployment."

Mr. McCracken is right as were his predecessors. The problem is the same as before and there is no reason to believe a call for voluntary restraint will be any more effective now than it was the last time around.

SO FAR the Nixon administration has failed to show it is going to be economyminded and reduce government expenditures through the "voluntary restraint" process.

With Washington's example before them, why would labor unions be expected to exercise restraint? And as wages go up so do prices.

It Ain't Over Yet

But today's thin veneer of snow served only to underscore the mildness of the season in the Ohio Valley — so far. Although spring is scheduled to arrive next week, anyone who thinks he's going to get by this year without a sore back from shoveling snow is either unfamiliar with Old Man Winter's sneak attack strategy or has a very loving and energetic wife.

'Mr. Clean' Policy

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Big Brother is not only watching you, he also is insuring you.

Art Buchwald

The poor chap, who was in the midst of tiling his kitchen and dining room, was not given a second chance by his insurance firm. After the cancellation he was turned down by 10 other insurance companies and the theory that a family that doesn't dust together, doesn't adjust together.

If this is a trend in the automobile insurance business, we're all in for a very nerve-wracking time.

THE SCENE is the home of the Drakes. They have just bought a new car and are anxiously awaiting the arrival of their insurance man.

"Tommy," screams Mrs. Drake at her 10-year-old son, "get that fire engine out of the living room. Do you want our insurance agent to think we live like pigs?"

Tommy starts crying and Mr. Drake says, "Relax, Mother. All we want to do is insure our car. We have nothing to be ashamed of."

"I'm so nervous," Mrs. Drake says. "Oh, here comes the agent."

Enter Bart Crockett. He shakes hands with Mr. and Mrs. Drake and then puts on a spotless pair of white gloves. "So you want to insure your car?"

"Yes, sir," says Mr. Drake, showing Crockett his clean fingernails.

Crockett walks by Drake over to the piano and rubs a gloved hand over the top, and then looks at it.

"WHAT KIND of car is it?" Crockett asks as he gets down on his hands and knees and looks under the couch.

"It's a brand-new 1969 Gazelle," Mrs. Drake says nervously. "We've both been driving for 20 years and we've never had an accident."

"Hmmnn," says Crockett. "Mind if I look in the kitchen?"

"One of the children must have washed it," Mrs. Drake says. She grabs it out of his hand and starts scrubbing it with steel wool.

"Were you thinking of accident as well as liability insurance?" Crockett asks as he opens up the garbage pail.

"Both," says Mr. Drake.

Then he turns to the Drakes. "Will your son also be driving the car?"

"No, he's not old enough."

"OK, now let's check the bedrooms."

"They're all in order," Mrs. Drake says.

Crockett says, with a trace of a smile, "Mrs. Drake, automobile insurance companies wouldn't be in business if they took everyone's word that their bedrooms were spotless. Of course, if you don't want the insurance. . ."

"No, no. Inspect the bedrooms by all means."

"But it's on the outside," Mr. Drake protests.

"Does this mean you won't give us car insurance?" Mr. Drake asks.

Crockett, as he stomps out of the house, replied, "Insure you? I wouldn't even drink your water."

Letter To The Editor

Team Commended

Leaving the Steubenville Arena following Saturday's heartbreaking loss, I listened as many of the "loyal fans" began to verbally lash out at our coach and team. I was prompted to write this letter because I believe this vocal band of second guessers needs to consider a few things.

As a member of the faculty at East Liverpool High School, I have watched a dedicated group of players sacrifice much so that our community might have a winner. Many of these athletes are the same ones who performed so successfully during the football season. They don't know what it is to go home immediately after classes, not having done so since the beginning of September.

When you're speaking of the Potter varsity of Jerry Christian, Bill Montgomery, John Johnson, Rick Steffen, Dan Cunningham, Tom Chambers and Steve Douglas, you're speaking of the highest caliber of young men to be found in any high school. I have watched them take positions of leadership around the school, always exerting a positive influence on the other students while at the same time maintaining a good scholastic average.

These players and their fine coach Mr. McConnell deserve something better than for negative comments to be made on their performance. Knowing these individuals, I know there are no sadder people in East Liverpool than they. The strategy almost worked; the final shot just barely missed. It could have gone in, and they would have all been heroes. To the faculty and student body at ELHS, they still are.

Any group of athletes and coaches who can compile a record over a three-year span that these seniors and Mr. McConnell have compiled owes no one an apology; we, instead, owe them a big vote of thanks for all their efforts, and I would like to cast the first ballot.

Poisoners Rapped

I just finished reading your editorial "Poison is not the way."

You suggested by your tone that these sadists are only well-meaning people trying to "rid the neighborhood of pests."

In the last two months, the 11-year-old boy next door has found (1) the family cocker spaniel; (2) my beloved pet dog; (3) my husband's two hunting dogs, and (4) a stray who was a "neighborhood pet" and not a "neighborhood nuisance" and whom everyone fed and liked—all dead from poison. Not a pleasant experience for a child.

I can hear people now justifying with "they shouldn't have been running loose!" All but one of the five dogs were tied!!

Someone deliberately came INTO our yard and the neighbor's yard and fed poison to our dogs one at a time. If this kind of sadist is well-meaning, God protect me from well-meaning people!

Short Cut Or Dead End?

VICTOR RIESEL

A Strike On Unhung Doors

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. — This story hinges on 32 doors and some intense indignation over the muscle flexing of a small union which seems to believe that this war-torn world is its own big pearl-laden oyster.

Victor Riesel

For more than four months now, this union has picketed and prevented the completion of an airmen's dormitory at this base — site of the Military Airlift Command and central airport for return of the wounded from Vietnam.

This union, Capenters Local 433, has prevented some 400 unmarried U.S. airmen from moving into the large dormitory by refusing to complete the job with the hanging of 32 doors. This would take some 15 days and would open the building to men now harassed by having to live and study in rickety World War II shacks, or by tripling up elsewhere on the base, or by having to travel to off-base accommodations.

THE UNION is demanding penalty pay for doors already hung — because those doors came precut. The union wants the unionized contractor, who purchased these precut doors from a union plant manned by union carpenters, members of the same national brotherhood, to pay for hours' penalty time for each door already hung, as well as the unfitted 32. And at the rate of $5.80 a hour. Or almost $7,000.

To the small contractor, whose profit margin already is slim, it's the money as well as the principle.

He's Robert F. Hoel, head of the Hoel-Steffen Construction Co., a solemn man who has been pushed about as far as he can be pushed. He's gone union all the way. He's given the government a skilled job on the $1,332,000 contract. He's completed a 200-man dormitory — on which the same carpenters union hung the same kind of doors.

BUT HE'S TAKEN his stand — which the big construction people over at the Gateway Army Ammunition Plant, now being payroll looted and loaded with hoods over in St. Louis across the Mississippi, did not take.

Nor did the Pentagon take a stand over there, and it has gotten pushed around by some other mighty tough "unionists" in the quick-triggered Laborers' International Local 42 — now under heavy investigation.

The Army Corps of Engineers did not push the big munitions plant construction people around, despite public reports of payroll padding, gambling and fake overtime. But the Engineers are pushing around this little fellow. And Robert Hoel says simply that, if he yields, then every military construction job in the land will be subject to this precedent.

IT ALL BEGAN last July 1. Trucks moved the precut doors onto the project site. Traditionally, an Illinois Laborers' union has unloaded these trucks. But this time, leaders of Carpenters Local 433 insisted it was their jurisdiction.

Then the Carpenters local struck for 15 days, contending that the unloading of precut doors was carpenters' work. They won. They then hung 258 of the needed 290 doors. Then suddenly they demanded the penalty pay.

Mr. Hoel rejected their claim. He had a full contract with the local. It covered wages, hours, overtime pay, welfare, fringes, etc. It also provided grievance machinery and binding arbitration.

Finally, it had a no-strike clause.

But all this was ignored by the local. It refused to arbitrate. It finally hit the bricks with a picket line on Nov. 1.

IT HAS BEEN OUT ever since, though it has hung precut doors without any penalty pay. It did the same work for the same contractor on the 200-room dormitory. It is doing similar work for other contractors who are far bigger than Mr. Hoel's firm. The local knows he's against the wall. They know he's losing money on heat, maintenance and other recurring charges in the partially completed building. And they hope to crack him.

But Mr. Hoel is that little man, the lone voice, the village dissenter who always turns up across our land in the fight against injustice and muscle.

He points out that there really is no reason to yield on this penalty pay — for it penalizes the nation, the Air Force base, and young men being trained to fly the dangerous skies in the Asian war.

Informing The Enemy

WASHINGTON — Time was when the American press imposed upon itself what was called a "voluntary censorship." During the two world wars the news media felt a responsibility not to disclose future troop movements or planned strategy, as this might be utilized to our disadvantage by the enemy.

Today the United States is again in the midst of war and more than 535,000 troops in the armed services are actually engaged in fighting a ruthless enemy. Is it proper for any of the newspapers or other media to reveal the details of a decision-making process on military matters by a president of the United States within the last twelve months?

THERE HAVE JUST been published some lengthy articles purporting to give the inside story of how decisions were reached to halt the bombing of North Vietnam. Also the inside pressures for a different policy and the attitudes of the advisers of President Johnson were described in detail. All this must have been read avidly in Hanoi, Moscow and Peking.

Former President Johnson has properly authorized the issuance of a statement on his behalf in Washington deploring the publication of what he terms inaccurate stories. Mr. Johnson's view is as follows:

"There has been a good deal of speculation and public discussion about the considerations that led President Johnson to announce a limited bombing halt on March 31, 1968. These accounts do not conform to President Johnson's records.

"This is not the time for a full analysis of that decision. But it is time to point out that there are major inaccuracies in the various reports lest those inaccuracies become history before the full record is published and lest the American people and our friends and others abroad be misled."

Most newspapers during war periods have leaned toward suppression even when in doubt, and the principle of a "voluntary censorship" has been scrupulously followed. It, of course, would be "news" to divulge what is going on behind the scenes in the office of the commander-in-chief during a war, but, as between the country's interests and the opportunity for a "news scoop," the press has in the past patriotically remained faithful to "voluntary censorship."

It is, therefore, unfortunate that no concerted effort has been made to organize a "voluntary censorship" procedure, in cooperation with a designated information officer in the government, to deal with the news of the Vietnam War. The object would be to avoid the publication of military data and "inside" stories even when furnished by seemingly authoritative sources such as some former staff members of the previous administration.

The articles recently printed unwittingly portray the United States government as vacillating and lacking in resoluteness. They tell of an alleged "request," in one instance, by our military chiefs for more troops which never was made.

Just now the big question is whether the North Vietnamese will continue their offensive and whether President Nixon will authorize the resumption of bombing. The talks at Paris have thus far produced no results, and the debate goes on as to whether there was or was not a previous "understanding" that the North Vietnamese would reduce the intensity of their warfare and try to reach an agreement.

Will President Nixon now find it necessary to follow the historic advice of military men who say the only way to defeat an enemy is to bomb its supply lines, blockade its ports and inflict heavy damage on its territory?

THE IMPRESSION conveyed abroad is that public opinion in the United States wants the Nixon administration to quit the war by any means it can find. This is the same thing as accepting "peace at any price." It not only would render futile the sacrifices already made by American and allied forces but would pave the way in the not-far-distant future for another outbreak of war in Southeast Asia which could prove more serious than the present conflict.

President Nixon now is in the process of making a decision, but it may not be immediately disclosed. For it is, of course, better to develop military movements secretly, and gradually put them into full-scale operation without telling an enemy about the plan in advance.

Barking Up The Wrong Tree

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, speaking for the Nixon administration, has taken a step toward curbing inflation that is more noteworthy as an expression of hope than as an attack on a serious economic problem.

Speaking to the Economic Club of New York, Mr. McCracken called on business and labor to use restraint in raising prices and wages.

HE SAID business and unions "face a new ball game" and 1969 wage and price decisions "must be consistent with the economic environment of the future which will be less inflationary."

The former University of Michigan economics professor rejected the wage guideline policy used by both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations in unsuccessful attempts to hold wage and price increases at acceptable levels.

Economic advisers had set the acceptable increase at 3.2 per cent during both the Democratic administrations.

Mr. McCracken said "High-level man hours spent in cajolery (to keep business and labor within this guideline) might, at least so history suggests, be better spent dealing with the fundamentals that produce and inflationary environment."

In spite of his disdain for the Kennedy-Johnson guidelines, Mr. McCracken is, in effect, asking for the same thing in basically the same manner.

The difference is the lack of a numerical guideline on the part of the Nixon administration.

The two previous administrations warned business and labor they faced serious trouble if guidelines were ignored. Labor unions sought and got record contracts and prices went up accordingly.

Mr. McCracken warned business and unions if they ignored inflation and refused to try and stem it, they would face "uncomfortably soft markets" and "court the risk of unemployment."

Mr. McCracken is right as were his predecessors. The problem is the same as before and there is no reason to believe a call for voluntary restraint will be any more effective now than it was the last time around.

SO FAR the Nixon administration has failed to show it is going to be economyminded and reduce government expenditures through the "voluntary restraint" process.

With Washington's example before them, why would labor unions be expected to exercise restraint? And as wages go up so do prices.

It Ain't Over Yet

But today's thin veneer of snow served only to underscore the mildness of the season in the Ohio Valley — so far. Although spring is scheduled to arrive next week, anyone who thinks he's going to get by this year without a sore back from shoveling snow is either unfamiliar with Old Man Winter's sneak attack strategy or has a very loving and energetic wife.

'Mr. Clean' Policy

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Big Brother is not only watching you, he also is insuring you.

Art Buchwald

The poor chap, who was in the midst of tiling his kitchen and dining room, was not given a second chance by his insurance firm. After the cancellation he was turned down by 10 other insurance companies and the theory that a family that doesn't dust together, doesn't adjust together.

If this is a trend in the automobile insurance business, we're all in for a very nerve-wracking time.

THE SCENE is the home of the Drakes. They have just bought a new car and are anxiously awaiting the arrival of their insurance man.

"Tommy," screams Mrs. Drake at her 10-year-old son, "get that fire engine out of the living room. Do you want our insurance agent to think we live like pigs?"

Tommy starts crying and Mr. Drake says, "Relax, Mother. All we want to do is insure our car. We have nothing to be ashamed of."

"I'm so nervous," Mrs. Drake says. "Oh, here comes the agent."

Enter Bart Crockett. He shakes hands with Mr. and Mrs. Drake and then puts on a spotless pair of white gloves. "So you want to insure your car?"

"Yes, sir," says Mr. Drake, showing Crockett his clean fingernails.

Crockett walks by Drake over to the piano and rubs a gloved hand over the top, and then looks at it.

"WHAT KIND of car is it?" Crockett asks as he gets down on his hands and knees and looks under the couch.

"It's a brand-new 1969 Gazelle," Mrs. Drake says nervously. "We've both been driving for 20 years and we've never had an accident."

"Hmmnn," says Crockett. "Mind if I look in the kitchen?"

"One of the children must have washed it," Mrs. Drake says. She grabs it out of his hand and starts scrubbing it with steel wool.

"Were you thinking of accident as well as liability insurance?" Crockett asks as he opens up the garbage pail.

"Both," says Mr. Drake.

Then he turns to the Drakes. "Will your son also be driving the car?"

"No, he's not old enough."

"OK, now let's check the bedrooms."

"They're all in order," Mrs. Drake says.

Crockett says, with a trace of a smile, "Mrs. Drake, automobile insurance companies wouldn't be in business if they took everyone's word that their bedrooms were spotless. Of course, if you don't want the insurance. . ."

"No, no. Inspect the bedrooms by all means."

"But it's on the outside," Mr. Drake protests.

"Does this mean you won't give us car insurance?" Mr. Drake asks.

Crockett, as he stomps out of the house, replied, "Insure you? I wouldn't even drink your water."

Letter To The Editor

Team Commended

Leaving the Steubenville Arena following Saturday's heartbreaking loss, I listened as many of the "loyal fans" began to verbally lash out at our coach and team. I was prompted to write this letter because I believe this vocal band of second guessers needs to consider a few things.

As a member of the faculty at East Liverpool High School, I have watched a dedicated group of players sacrifice much so that our community might have a winner. Many of these athletes are the same ones who performed so successfully during the football season. They don't know what it is to go home immediately after classes, not having done so since the beginning of September.

When you're speaking of the Potter varsity of Jerry Christian, Bill Montgomery, John Johnson, Rick Steffen, Dan Cunningham, Tom Chambers and Steve Douglas, you're speaking of the highest caliber of young men to be found in any high school. I have watched them take positions of leadership around the school, always exerting a positive influence on the other students while at the same time maintaining a good scholastic average.

These players and their fine coach Mr. McConnell deserve something better than for negative comments to be made on their performance. Knowing these individuals, I know there are no sadder people in East Liverpool than they. The strategy almost worked; the final shot just barely missed. It could have gone in, and they would have all been heroes. To the faculty and student body at ELHS, they still are.

Any group of athletes and coaches who can compile a record over a three-year span that these seniors and Mr. McConnell have compiled owes no one an apology; we, instead, owe them a big vote of thanks for all their efforts, and I would like to cast the first ballot.

Poisoners Rapped

I just finished reading your editorial "Poison is not the way."

You suggested by your tone that these sadists are only well-meaning people trying to "rid the neighborhood of pests."

In the last two months, the 11-year-old boy next door has found (1) the family cocker spaniel; (2) my beloved pet dog; (3) my husband's two hunting dogs, and (4) a stray who was a "neighborhood pet" and not a "neighborhood nuisance" and whom everyone fed and liked—all dead from poison. Not a pleasant experience for a child.

I can hear people now justifying with "they shouldn't have been running loose!" All but one of the five dogs were tied!!

Someone deliberately came INTO our yard and the neighbor's yard and fed poison to our dogs one at a time. If this kind of sadist is well-meaning, God protect me from well-meaning people!

Short Cut Or Dead End?

VICTOR RIESEL

A Strike On Unhung Doors

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. — This story hinges on 32 doors and some intense indignation over the muscle flexing of a small union which seems to believe that this war-torn world is its own big pearl-laden oyster.

Victor Riesel

For more than four months now, this union has picketed and prevented the completion of an airmen's dormitory at this base — site of the Military Airlift Command and central airport for return of the wounded from Vietnam.

This union, Capenters Local 433, has prevented some 400 unmarried U.S. airmen from moving into the large dormitory by refusing to complete the job with the hanging of 32 doors. This would take some 15 days and would open the building to men now harassed by having to live and study in rickety World War II shacks, or by tripling up elsewhere on the base, or by having to travel to off-base accommodations.

THE UNION is demanding penalty pay for doors already hung — because those doors came precut. The union wants the unionized contractor, who purchased these precut doors from a union plant manned by union carpenters, members of the same national brotherhood, to pay for hours' penalty time for each door already hung, as well as the unfitted 32. And at the rate of $5.80 a hour. Or almost $7,000.

To the small contractor, whose profit margin already is slim, it's the money as well as the principle.

He's Robert F. Hoel, head of the Hoel-Steffen Construction Co., a solemn man who has been pushed about as far as he can be pushed. He's gone union all the way. He's given the government a skilled job on the $1,332,000 contract. He's completed a 200-man dormitory — on which the same carpenters union hung the same kind of doors.

BUT HE'S TAKEN his stand — which the big construction people over at the Gateway Army Ammunition Plant, now being payroll looted and loaded with hoods over in St. Louis across the Mississippi, did not take.

Nor did the Pentagon take a stand over there, and it has gotten pushed around by some other mighty tough "unionists" in the quick-triggered Laborers' International Local 42 — now under heavy investigation.

The Army Corps of Engineers did not push the big munitions plant construction people around, despite public reports of payroll padding, gambling and fake overtime. But the Engineers are pushing around this little fellow. And Robert Hoel says simply that, if he yields, then every military construction job in the land will be subject to this precedent.

IT ALL BEGAN last July 1. Trucks moved the precut doors onto the project site. Traditionally, an Illinois Laborers' union has unloaded these trucks. But this time, leaders of Carpenters Local 433 insisted it was their jurisdiction.

Then the Carpenters local struck for 15 days, contending that the unloading of precut doors was carpenters' work. They won. They then hung 258 of the needed 290 doors. Then suddenly they demanded the penalty pay.

Mr. Hoel rejected their claim. He had a full contract with the local. It covered wages, hours, overtime pay, welfare, fringes, etc. It also provided grievance machinery and binding arbitration.

Finally, it had a no-strike clause.

But all this was ignored by the local. It refused to arbitrate. It finally hit the bricks with a picket line on Nov. 1.

IT HAS BEEN OUT ever since, though it has hung precut doors without any penalty pay. It did the same work for the same contractor on the 200-room dormitory. It is doing similar work for other contractors who are far bigger than Mr. Hoel's firm. The local knows he's against the wall. They know he's losing money on heat, maintenance and other recurring charges in the partially completed building. And they hope to crack him.

But Mr. Hoel is that little man, the lone voice, the village dissenter who always turns up across our land in the fight against injustice and muscle.

He points out that there really is no reason to yield on this penalty pay — for it penalizes the nation, the Air Force base, and young men being trained to fly the dangerous skies in the Asian war.

Employment Rose Again In February

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's total employment rose substantially for the fifth straight month to 76.2 million in February and unemployment remained at a 15 - year low of 3.3 per cent, the Labor Department said Monday.

"It occurred in almost all the industries," Asst. Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said of the employment increase totaling 380,000 last month.

The total of Americans at work had risen 1.6 million in the last 5 months, twice the rate of growth in the first nine months of last year, Goldstein said.

The total employment figure of 76.2 million is an all - time high after adjustment for seasonal factors, he said.

The total of unemployed in February was 2.9 million. About one-fourth of them were seeking only part time jobs.

The jobless rate of 3.3 per cent of civilian labor force has remained unchanged for 3 straight months.

The bureau also reported that average hourly earnings for some 45 million rank - and - file workers rose one cent in February to $2.96.

"We should hit the three-dollar mark pretty soon," Goldstein said.

Average weekly earnings were up 37 cents to $111.00, an all-time high.

Goldstein noted that the average manufacturing work week has declined slightly for the fifth straight month to 40.5 hours, the lowest in nearly a year.

He said this could mean a possible slow-down in the economy, or just a tapering off in the rate of recent rapid growth.

"It may not be a precursor of a decline in employment," he said.

Goldstein said that along with the big rise in nonagricultural employment totaling 1.6 million in five months, the labor force had grown almost the same amount in that period.

"That's a very substantial increase. It can't keep it up," he said.

The civilian labor force rose to 79.1 million in February.

National Official To Attend County Republican Rally

LISBON—Miss Martha Moore of Cambridge, national Republican committeewoman from Ohio, will attend the Columbiana County Republican dinner March 29 at Orchard Hill School in Leetonia.

Ford McQuilkin, county GOP chairman, made the announcement during the Republican advisory group's luncheon Monday at the Wick Hotel.

He also announced that the executive committee will meet at 8 tonight at headquarters in the hotel building.

McQuilkin refuted a statement of Don Gosney, county Democratic chairman, that the state tax commission is at fault for the big increase in real estate taxes.

McQuilkin said he put the question of responsibility on reappraisal to State Auditor Roger Cloud and was told the responsibility is that of the county auditor, that valuations to be placed upon the property are to be in accord with the rules drafted by the Board of Tax Appeals and the determination of the value of each property, plus improvements, is to be accomplished by the local appraisers in conformity to the rules of the state Board of Tax Appeals.

McQuilkin said many people have come to him to protest tax increases of 30, 40, 50, 100 and even over 200 per cent. "I consider this to be excessive, unrealistic and beyond the bounds of good judgment," the party chief said.

Why do these three good drivers pay different rates for the same auto insurance?

They talked it over one day and discovered that they live on the same street, are about the same age, drive similar cars and have identical coverage from the same company. But there the similarity ended. Here's why:

The case of Mr. A! The man at left—we'll call him Mr. A—is married and has no children. He drives to work 7 miles each day and uses his car the rest of the time for shopping and pleasure. He has not had an accident or traffic violation within the last 3 years. His premium for auto insurance coverage is $158 per year.

The case of Mr. B! Mr. B—in the center—is also married and with no children. Last year he had one chargeable accident. He also drives 7 miles to work each day. Mr. B's insurance premium is $199 per year.

The case of Mr. C! The man at right is also married and has a 17-year old son who completed a driver's training course. Neither Mr. C, his wife nor his son have had an accident or traffic violation. Mr. C pays $303 per year annual premium.

You can probably spot the reasons for the step-up in rates from that paid by Mr. A. They are — a chargeable accident, in the case of Mr. B—and the teenage driver in Mr. C's family. The rate you pay is determined by similar factors, some more complex than this simplified example. It is also determined by the rating area (Ohio has 30) in which you live, where rates are established on the basis of local accident and claims records.

The point is that there are logical reasons for the variance in premiums from driver to driver. Insurance involves the sharing of risks, but it also proportions the cost to the individual policyholder in terms of his driver classification.

The next time you renew your auto insurance, ask your agent for a full explanation of your policy. He'll be more than glad to discuss it because his job is to give you the best possible financial protection at the most reasonable rate.

(Rates based on $10,000/20,000 bodily injury, $5,000 property damage, $1,000 medical payments, comprehensive, $100 deductible collision, and uninsured motorists coverage.)

Employment Rose Again In February

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's total employment rose substantially for the fifth straight month to 76.2 million in February and unemployment remained at a 15 - year low of 3.3 per cent, the Labor Department said Monday.

"It occurred in almost all the industries," Asst. Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said of the employment increase totaling 380,000 last month.

The total of Americans at work had risen 1.6 million in the last 5 months, twice the rate of growth in the first nine months of last year, Goldstein said.

The total employment figure of 76.2 million is an all - time high after adjustment for seasonal factors, he said.

The total of unemployed in February was 2.9 million. About one-fourth of them were seeking only part time jobs.

The jobless rate of 3.3 per cent of civilian labor force has remained unchanged for 3 straight months.

The bureau also reported that average hourly earnings for some 45 million rank - and - file workers rose one cent in February to $2.96.

"We should hit the three-dollar mark pretty soon," Goldstein said.

Average weekly earnings were up 37 cents to $111.00, an all-time high.

Goldstein noted that the average manufacturing work week has declined slightly for the fifth straight month to 40.5 hours, the lowest in nearly a year.

He said this could mean a possible slow-down in the economy, or just a tapering off in the rate of recent rapid growth.

"It may not be a precursor of a decline in employment," he said.

Goldstein said that along with the big rise in nonagricultural employment totaling 1.6 million in five months, the labor force had grown almost the same amount in that period.

"That's a very substantial increase. It can't keep it up," he said.

The civilian labor force rose to 79.1 million in February.

National Official To Attend County Republican Rally

LISBON—Miss Martha Moore of Cambridge, national Republican committeewoman from Ohio, will attend the Columbiana County Republican dinner March 29 at Orchard Hill School in Leetonia.

Ford McQuilkin, county GOP chairman, made the announcement during the Republican advisory group's luncheon Monday at the Wick Hotel.

He also announced that the executive committee will meet at 8 tonight at headquarters in the hotel building.

McQuilkin refuted a statement of Don Gosney, county Democratic chairman, that the state tax commission is at fault for the big increase in real estate taxes.

McQuilkin said he put the question of responsibility on reappraisal to State Auditor Roger Cloud and was told the responsibility is that of the county auditor, that valuations to be placed upon the property are to be in accord with the rules drafted by the Board of Tax Appeals and the determination of the value of each property, plus improvements, is to be accomplished by the local appraisers in conformity to the rules of the state Board of Tax Appeals.

McQuilkin said many people have come to him to protest tax increases of 30, 40, 50, 100 and even over 200 per cent. "I consider this to be excessive, unrealistic and beyond the bounds of good judgment," the party chief said.

Factor In Ruby Martin's Move

Southern School Boards Resisting Desegregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal Office of Civil Rights is encountering renewed resistance by Southern school boards to its desegregation efforts.

A source close to Ruby G. Martin said the resistance was a factor in her decision to refuse re-appointment as director of the civil rights office.

Dr. Lloyd R. Henderson, acting director of the Office of Civil Rights, said 220 districts—the heaviest number since 1965 when enforcement of the 1964 Civil Rights Act was still young—face possible hearing for noncompliance.

"A good many may come into compliance before hearings are scheduled," he said.

The 220 districts, most of them in South Carolina, Georgia, Arkansas and Texas, were among 340 asked last August to submit plans for "terminal" desegregation. The other 120 districts have complied.

In contrast, similar letters went out to 317 districts in January and February of 1968, and all but about 50 complied, Henderson said.

The Nixon administration offered Mrs. Martin, a Democrat appointed to head the Civil Rights Office by President Johnson, a pay increase to stay on, but she declined. She left the government Friday, and Henderson, another Johnson appointee, took over as acting director.

Mrs. Martin, who is a Negro, said only that she felt she could do more for her race outside the government. The informed source said, however, that she was apprehensive about GOP campaign statements which she interpreted as indicating to the South that the Republicans would move more slowly on desegregation.

Her apprehension was heightened, the source said, by statements made by Secretary Robert H. Finch of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which administers the Office of Civil Rights.

Finch, while emphasizing that he would enforce the law, has distinguished between segregation and discrimination, has said he was reviewing desegregation guildelines, and has been critical of some HEW agents for "overzealousness" in enforcing desegregation.

Both Finch and President Nixon have referred to a cut off of federal funds to non-complying districts as "the ultimate weapon."

The source said that Mrs. Martin felt the reference was unwise because some districts might be led to believe they have more time before an "ultimate weapon" would be used against them.

Henderson said part of the reason for the slow response to the August letter was "the districts we're dealing with now are in many respects tougher."

"A lot have a majority of Negro students and it frightens the school officials, who fear desegregation will mean creation of private school systems."

The acting director, said part of the problem was "confusion" over federal desegregation standards, including an unsuccessful attempt last year in Congress to sanction "freedom of choice" desegregation plans.

If It's Strong Enough

McCarthy May OK Party Draft In New Senate Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who said last fall he would not seek reelection as a Minnesota Democrat in 1970, now says he might accept a draft from his party—if it is strong enough.

McCarthy, relaxed and smiling, told an interviewer in his Senate office that he has "not thought about getting out of politics altogether."

Back in the capital after a weekend trip to Minnesota, his first time home since the presidential election, McCarthy reinforced a statement at a Minneapolis news conference that he has made no final decision on whether to seek re-election to his Senate seat.

"I do not know what I will do in 1970," he said. "I might be drafted by the (Democratic) party. I would have to see how strong such a draft was."

In an Oct. 29 statement endorsing former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidency, McCarthy said: "I will not be a candidate of my party for re-election to the Senate from Minnesota in 1970. Nor will I seek the presidential nomination of the Democratic Party in 1972."

The enigmatic Minnesotan now characterizes his pre-election statement this way: "I set some limits; they do not mean much."

"There are a couple of things that I will have to shake down before making a real decision—before I even start to think about it," McCarthy said when asked if he intended to leave politics.

McCarthy, who has been writing a book on the 1968 election campaign and his role in it, has been described as irked by reports that Humphrey blames him in part for Richard M. Nixon's presidential victory.

Few Humphrey aides appear to doubt the former vice president will seek to return to the Senate if McCarthy doesn't run. Some Humphrey associates even go so far as to predict privately that if the political winds are blowing right, Humphrey will run regardless of what McCarthy decides to do.

Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., says he will seek the Republican nomination.

Sweeney Eyes Bid For State Office In 1970

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Former U.S. Rep. Robert E. Sweeney, a Cleveland attorney, says he "will run for state office" next year, but refused to say which office he will seek.

At the same time, Sweeney announced plans Monday to form a group called Stop Taxing Our Paychecks, Inc. (STOP) to push for reform of Ohio's tax structure.

Sweeney appeared before the Cuyahoga County Commissioners to protest their plans to add a one-half of one per cent "piggyback" sales tax onto the 4 per cent state sales tax. The commissioners passed the tax.

"This country was founded on a tax revolution and it could go down in a tax revolution," Sweeney said.

He said he would seek a charter for STOP, Inc., as a nonprofit corporation and explained that the organization would become the "taxpayer's lobby" in Columbus to represent "the ordinary guy with a paycheck."

gators believe Ray obtained funds in "one armed robbery and maybe two robberies in Montreal," one in London, and profited by smuggling jewelry and drugs into the United States after his prison break.

Ray's statements in court Monday confused many who heard them.

After entering his plea of guilty to first-degree murder he stood up and told the judge he disagreed with the theory that no conspiracy was linked with the assassination.

Under questioning by the court, however, Ray said he was still pleading guilty.

After being sentenced, the prisoner was returned to his maximum security cell in the Shelby County Jail.

Early today he was secretly taken from his cell and shuttled some 200 miles to the state penitentiary at Nashville to begin serving his 99-year sentence.

A Justice Department spokesman in Washington said Ray's plea of guilty had not closed the books on its original investigation of a possible conspiracy.

In Atlanta, Coretta King, the widow, said Ray's plea of guilty "cannot be allowed to close the case, to end the search for the many fingers which helped pull the trigger."

She added:

"For the moment, we have been spared a trial which would compel us to relieve the fearfully tragic events of his death. But we realize that this is but a respite."

But, Mrs. King continued, "All concerned people must press the State of Tennessee and the U.S. government to continue until all who are responsible for this crime are apprehended."

4 U.S. Fliers Due Release In Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four U.S. fliers imprisoned in Cambodia for a month are in the process of being released, according to reports reaching Washington.

There was no immediate announcement from the White House or the State Department concerning the four. Cambodia says they were shot down when their plane violated Cambodian airspace Feb. 12.

However, it was understood that arrangements were under way for turning the men over to the Australian embassy, which represents U.S. interests in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital.

A message from President Nixon may have figured in the release, though the White House had no immediate comment on this.

Prince Sihanouk said last week he would free the Americans upon receiving a personal message from Nixon.

the fund administered by the newspaper — the contributions that poured in from all parts of the tri-state district and other parts of the United States when a sympathetic public learned of the youngster's brave fight for life.

THE HOSPITAL bill stands at the moment at approximately $2,500, but some of that liability will be met by payments from the group insurance policy held by the boy's father as an employe of the Homer Laughlin China Co.

The balance of the newspaper fund is being held in the bank to be applied toward future bills or the current debt, if it is not covered by the insurance company.

Paul has spent most of the time at home in recent weeks, going to Pittsburgh twice weekly for treatments on an artificial kidney machine that cleans his blood and allows his life to continue. But he re-entered Children's Hospital Monday after developing a 103 - degree fever while at home Sunday. The family is uncertain how long the stay will continue.

Although the contributions reached a peak around Christmas, money has continued to dribble in from persons and organizations who remembered the little fellow. For instance, some Valentines arrived in mid-February with money for the Paul McCraw Fund. And servicemen in Vietnam who took up a collection and sent money to help the family have continued a correspondence with the newspaper's staff.

ASIDE FROM charges at Children's Hospital, a $300-a-week debt is building up against the family for use of the artificial kidney machine. Since the Children's Hospital does not have the specialized equipment, it sends Paul to a Veterans Administration Hospital for the treatments.

The charges, $150 a treatment, are billed by the VA to Children's Hospital and then applied to the McCraw account.

Children's Hospital makes no charge to the family, however, when the boy is in the hospital's teaching clinic. While he's there, the hospital absorbs the cost because of using the youngster as a teaching subject for physicians-to-be. The group insurance pays $25 toward the daily hospital room charge of $45, when it's applied.

The disease has been termed incurable, barring a miracle. Discovered three years ago, it has dwarfed the youngster so that he wears clothing made for 3-year-olds. In addition to ruining his kidneys, the disease is destroying the bone marrow and shows many other symptoms associated with leukemia. Doctors said it's the sixth known case in the history of American medicine.

Just before Christmas, the child was readied for a kidney transplant that never materialized. He was given a "furlough" from the hospital early this year, on condition he returned twice weekly for the kidney machine treatments.

After entering his plea of guilty to first-degree murder he stood up and told the judge he disagreed with the theory that no conspiracy was linked with the assassination.

Under questioning by the court, however, Ray said he was still pleading guilty.

After being sentenced, the prisoner was returned to his maximum security cell in the Shelby County Jail.

Early today he was secretly taken from his cell and shuttled some 200 miles to the state penitentiary at Nashville to begin serving his 99-year sentence.

A Justice Department spokesman in Washington said Ray's plea of guilty had not closed the books on its original investigation of a possible conspiracy.

In Atlanta, Coretta King, the widow, said Ray's plea of guilty "cannot be allowed to close the case, to end the search for the many fingers which helped pull the trigger."

She added:

"For the moment, we have been spared a trial which would compel us to relieve the fearfully tragic events of his death. But we realize that this is but a respite."

But, Mrs. King continued, "All concerned people must press the State of Tennessee and the U.S. government to continue until all who are responsible for this crime are apprehended."

4 U.S. Fliers Due Release In Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four U.S. fliers imprisoned in Cambodia for a month are in the process of being released, according to reports reaching Washington.

There was no immediate announcement from the White House or the State Department concerning the four. Cambodia says they were shot down when their plane violated Cambodian airspace Feb. 12.

However, it was understood that arrangements were under way for turning the men over to the Australian embassy, which represents U.S. interests in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital.

A message from President Nixon may have figured in the release, though the White House had no immediate comment on this.

Prince Sihanouk said last week he would free the Americans upon receiving a personal message from Nixon.

the fund administered by the newspaper — the contributions that poured in from all parts of the tri-state district and other parts of the United States when a sympathetic public learned of the youngster's brave fight for life.

THE HOSPITAL bill stands at the moment at approximately $2,500, but some of that liability will be met by payments from the group insurance policy held by the boy's father as an employe of the Homer Laughlin China Co.

The balance of the newspaper fund is being held in the bank to be applied toward future bills or the current debt, if it is not covered by the insurance company.

Paul has spent most of the time at home in recent weeks, going to Pittsburgh twice weekly for treatments on an artificial kidney machine that cleans his blood and allows his life to continue. But he re-entered Children's Hospital Monday after developing a 103 - degree fever while at home Sunday. The family is uncertain how long the stay will continue.

Although the contributions reached a peak around Christmas, money has continued to dribble in from persons and organizations who remembered the little fellow. For instance, some Valentines arrived in mid-February with money for the Paul McCraw Fund. And servicemen in Vietnam who took up a collection and sent money to help the family have continued a correspondence with the newspaper's staff.

ASIDE FROM charges at Children's Hospital, a $300-a-week debt is building up against the family for use of the artificial kidney machine. Since the Children's Hospital does not have the specialized equipment, it sends Paul to a Veterans Administration Hospital for the treatments.

The charges, $150 a treatment, are billed by the VA to Children's Hospital and then applied to the McCraw account.

Children's Hospital makes no charge to the family, however, when the boy is in the hospital's teaching clinic. While he's there, the hospital absorbs the cost because of using the youngster as a teaching subject for physicians-to-be. The group insurance pays $25 toward the daily hospital room charge of $45, when it's applied.

The disease has been termed incurable, barring a miracle. Discovered three years ago, it has dwarfed the youngster so that he wears clothing made for 3-year-olds. In addition to ruining his kidneys, the disease is destroying the bone marrow and shows many other symptoms associated with leukemia. Doctors said it's the sixth known case in the history of American medicine.

Just before Christmas, the child was readied for a kidney transplant that never materialized. He was given a "furlough" from the hospital early this year, on condition he returned twice weekly for the kidney machine treatments.

If It's Strong Enough

McCarthy May OK Party Draft In New Senate Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who said last fall he would not seek re-election as a Minnesota Democrat in 1970, now says he might accept a draft from his party—if it is strong enough.

McCarthy, relaxed and smiling, told an interviewer in his Senate office that he has "not thought about getting out of politics altogether."

Back in the capital after a weekend trip to Minnesota, his first time home since the presidential election, McCarthy reinforced a statement at a Minneapolis news conference that he has made no final decision on whether to seek re-election to his Senate seat.

"I do not know what I will do in 1970," he said. "I might be drafted by the (Democratic) party. I would have to see how strong such a draft was."

In an Oct. 29 statement endorsing former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidency, McCarthy said: "I will not be a candidate of my party for re-election to the Senate from Minnesota in 1970. Nor will I seek the presidential nomination of the Democratic Party in 1972."

The enigmatic Minnesotan now characterizes his pre-election statement this way: "I set some limits; they do not mean much."

"There are a couple of things that I will have to shake down before making a real decision—before I even start to think about it," McCarthy said when asked if he intended to leave politics.

McCarthy, who has been writing a book on the 1968 election campaign and his role in it, has been described as irked by reports that Humphrey blames him in part for Richard M. Nixon's presidential victory.

Few Humphrey aides appear to doubt the former vice president will seek to return to the Senate if McCarthy doesn't run. Some Humphrey associates even go so far as to predict privately that if the political winds are blowing right, Humphrey will run regardless of what McCarthy decides to do.

Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., says he will seek the Republican nomination.

Sweeney Eyes Bid For State Office In 1970

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Former U.S. Rep. Robert E. Sweeney, a Cleveland attorney, says he "will run for state office" next year, but refused to say which office he will seek.

At the same time, Sweeney announced plans Monday to form a group called Stop Taxing Our Paychecks, Inc. (STOP) to push for reform of Ohio's tax structure.

Sweeney appeared before the Cuyahoga County Commissioners to protest their plans to add a one-half of one per cent "piggyback" sales tax onto the 4 per cent state sales tax. The commissioners passed the tax.

"This country was founded on a tax revolution and it could go down in a tax revolution," Sweeney said.

He said he would seek a charter for STOP, Inc., as a nonprofit corporation and explained that the organization would become the "taxpayer's lobby" in Columbus to represent "the ordinary guy with a paycheck."

Is this the way you look at electric heat?

So did Reverend Ramsell

For years, Reverend Albert Ramsell of Canton, Ohio "wouldn't even think about electric heat. I thought it would be too expensive. Then I got a cost estimate and switched to electric 7 years ago. When I totaled my old fuel bills, I found out electric heat doesn't cost me any more than the old heat I had. Anybody who says electric heat is expensive is talking from hearsay, not experience." You can switch to flameless electric heat—economically. And your heating bill will be about what you're now paying. Let us prove it. Schedules Listed On Spring Sports

Schedules for spring sports and various budgets were discussed when the East Liverpool High School Athletic Association met Monday night.

The basketball banquet and reports also received attention.

Coach James Potts presented a baseball schedule, but explained it was incomplete. He said many schools have formed leagues or conferences, and do not want to schedule outside games.

Coach Paul Zechman said golf competition will begin March 25.

March 27 was set tentatively for the basketball banquet. Board member William Blair and Assistant Supt. Carl Pelini were named to assist Coach Clinton McConnell with arrangements.

The baseball budget was increased from $600 to $800 after Athletic Director Robert McNea explained that a considerable amount of equipment had been stolen from the parking lot at the high school in August when being moved from North Elementary to the high school.

Potts presented figures for forms, totaling $726.

Hruska said he needed at least 20 new uniforms ane requested the track suits be purchased in blue with white trim.

The track budget was set at $600, with the stipulation that if equipment costs go over that amount, additional expenditures will be approved.

Joe Smith presented the financial report and the football and cross country reports for the 1968-69 season.

The financial report showed a balance of $18,415.19, including both checking and saving accounts.

THE FOOTBALL report showed income of $47,115 and expenses of $36,113. However an expenditure of $1,507.52 for a weight machine was questioned as not belonging in the football report. The machine is also used for other sports.

Smith said he would prepare another report for the April meeting.

The cross - country report showed income of $16. and expenses of $590.07, for a deficit of $574.07.

A discussion was held on payment of away games for the basketball scorekeeper.

McNea said Gary Hicks, the scorekeeper, had questioned him because he had not received his check. In checking the matter, it was discovered that he had been paid for home games, which is the policy of the athletic board, but had not been paid for away games.

Hicks said McConnell had told him he would receive $5 per game.

Principal Alton Dobson said since there was a misunderstanding he believed Hicks should be paid. The board, however, voted to maintain policy, with Dobson's vote the only one for payment.

Hicks told Dobson he had checked with 13 schools and found 12 were paying for both on-the-road and home games.

Harry McConville asked, "Where is our school spirit?" "Do we need to be paid for everything we do."

Pelini explained that the home scorer is the official scorer and this is why the scorekeeper was paid in this manner. His responsibility for a home game is much greater," he said.

Dobson reported McConnell had asked that basketball play be extended, pointing out he has had requests for scrimmage games.

According to the Ohio Athletic Association rules, the season is not officially ended until the tournaments are concluded. However, East Liverpool has a policy that as soon as the team is out of the tournament, the season is over. This affords the athletes an opportunity to participate in spring sports, it was pointed out.

The board again voted to maintain policy, officially ending the basketball season as of now.

A DISCUSSION also was held on the baseball field being leveled at the high school. McConville suggested a committee of interested residents be chosen to help with the work.

He expressed the opinion that the school would not be able to afford maintenance if the field were used continually by other groups and that some sort of arrangement needed to be worked out.

McNea asked the board to consider the purchase of a new whirlpool and land and cinder fill for the track area at Patterson Field was discussed.

It was reported that a cradle for moving the wrestling mats had been made by the Patterson Division of Banner Industries.

Dobson explained the use of school buses and the method of paying for gasoline used.

McNew said prices had been obtained on football equipment for the high school, East Junior High and Westgate Junior High. All were close to or within the budget, he said.

The next meeting will be April 14. Bylaws and the constitution will be presented for first reading.

Tanker Removed At Mishap Site Without Incident

An overturned tanker truck trailer, which had been drenched with spilled gasoline, was removed from an accident site near the Shippingport Bridge Monday afternoon without incident.

Midland and Industry volunteer firemen emptied the tanker and flushed the Route 68 surface with water and foam to reduce the danger of fire and explosion.

The rig overturned yesterday morning near the storage area of the Humble Oil Co. storage facility. Daniel Eckstein, 40, of Industry, the driver who had just left the oil plant, said he did not know what caused the mishap.

Traffic was blocked for six hours while firemen stood by because of the explosion hazard from 5,600 galons of gasoline which spilled. Train traffic on the Penn Central line was also halted.

An excavation in Perthshire, Scotland, in 1961 revealed a store of nearly seven tons of nails abandoned by the Romans between A.D. 87 and 90.

Schedules Listed On Spring Sports

Schedules for spring sports and various budgets were discussed when the East Liverpool High School Athletic Association met Monday night.

The basketball banquet and reports also received attention.

Coach James Potts presented a baseball schedule, but explained it was incomplete. He said many schools have formed leagues or conferences, and do not want to schedule outside games.

Coach Paul Zechman said golf competition will begin March 15.

March 27 was set tentatively for the basketball banquet. Board member William Blair and Assistant Supt. Carl Pelini were named to assist Coach Clinton McConnell with arrangements.

The baseball budget was increased from $600 to $800 after Athletic Director Robert McNea explained that a considerable amount of equipment had been stolen from the parking lot at the high school in August when being moved from North Elementary to the high school.

Potts presented figures for forms, totaling $726.

Hruska said he needed at least 20 new uniforms ane requested the track suits be purchased in blue with white trim.

The track budget was set at $600, with the stipulation that if equipment costs go over that amount, additional expenditures will be approved.

Joe Smith presented the financial report and the football and cross country reports for the 1968-69 season.

The financial report showed a balance of $18,415.19, including both checking and saving accounts.

THE FOOTBALL report showed income of $47,115 and expenses of $36,113. However an expenditure of $1,507.52 for a weight machine was questioned as not belonging in the football report. The machine is also used for other sports.

Smith said he would prepare another report for the April meeting.

The cross - country report showed income of $16. and expenses of $590.07, for a deficit of $574.07.

A discussion was held on payment of away games for the basketball scorekeeper.

McNea said Gary Hicks, the corekeeper, had questioned him because he had not received his check. In checking the matter, it was discovered that he had been paid for home games, which is the policy of the athletic board, but had not been paid for away games.

Hicks said McConnell had told him he would receive $5 per game.

Principal Alton Dobson said since there was a misunderstanding he believed Hicks should be paid. The board, however, voted to maintain policy, with Dobson's vote the only one for payment.

Hicks told Dobson he had checked with 13 schools and found 12 were paying for both on-the-road and home games.

Harry McConville asked, "Where is our school spirit?" "Do we need to be paid for everything we do."

Pelini explained that the home scorer is the official scorer and this is why the scorekeeper was paid in this manner. His responsibility for a home game is much greater," he said.

Dobson reported McConnell had asked that basketball play be extended, pointing out he has had requests for scrimmage games.

According to the Ohio Athletic Association rules, the season is not officially ended until the tournaments are concluded. However, East Liverpool has a policy that as soon as the team is out of the tournament, the season is over. This affords the athletes an opportunity to participate in spring sports, it was pointed out.

The board again voted to maintain policy, officially ending the basketball season as of now.

A DISCUSSION also was held on the baseball field being leveled at the high school. McConville suggested a committee of interested residents be chosen to help with the work.

He expressed the opinion that the school would not be able to afford maintenance if the field were used continually by other groups and that some sort of arrangement needed to be worked out.

McNea asked the board to consider the purchase of a new whirlpool and land and cinder fill for the track area at Patterson Field was discussed.

It was reported that a cradle for moving the wrestling mats had been made by the Patterson Division of Banner Industries.

Dobson explained the use of school buses and the method of paying for gasoline used.

McNew said prices had been obtained on football equipment for the high school, East Junior High and Westgate Junior High. All were close to or within the budget, he said.

The next meeting will be April 14. Bylaws and the constitution will be presented for first reading.

Tanker Removed At Mishap Site Without Incident

An overturned tanker truck trailer, which had been drenched with spilled gasoline, was removed from an accident site near the Shippingport Bridge Monday afternoon without incident.

Midland and Industry volunteer firemen emptied the tanker and flushed the Route 68 surface with water and foam to reduce the danger of fire and explosion.

The rig overturned yesterday morning near the storage area of the Humble Oil Co. storage facility. Daniel Eckstein, 40, of Industry, the driver who had just left the oil plant, said he did not know what caused the mishap.

Traffic was blocked for six hours while firemen stood by because of the explosion hazard from 5,600 galons of gasoline which spilled. Train traffic on the Penn Central line was also halted.

An excavation in Perthshire, Scotland, in 1961 revealed a store of nearly seven tons of nails abandoned by the Romans between A.D. 87 and 90.

Kindergarten Program Set

The Beaver Local board of ed-

To be elgible for summer kindergarten program again this year and a survey to establish full - time kindergarten classes is being conducted.

The summer classes will be held at the Calcutta, Rogers, Elkton and West Point buildings.

To be eligible fr summer kindergarten, a child must be 6 years of age on or before Sept. 30 and reside in the Beaver Local School District.

Forms have been distributed and must be completed and returned to the principal of the building where the child will attend by March 28.

All supplies and materials and lunch will be provided free to each student.

Classes for the full-time kindergarten are tentatively scheduled to begin Sept. 2. These classes, however, depend on completion of the current building program, school administrators pointed out.

A survey is being taken to determine the approximate number of students, teachers, materials and space needed.

Requirements for enrollment in the full-time kindergarten are that a child must be 5 years old on or before Sept. 30, a birth certificate must be presented to confirm the child's birth date and a parent must present a physician's statement certifying that the child has been immunized against whooping cough, tetanus, diphtheria, polio and smallpox.

Forms have been distributed and also must be returned to the principal of the school building in the child's area by March 28.

Miss Pamela Jeanne Allen And Michael Silliman Wed

A full-length gown of satin and Alencon lace was worn by Miss Pamela Jeanne Allen when she became the bride of Boatswain's Mate 3C Michael Donald Silliman March 1 at 1:30 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Cuyahoga Falls.

Schools Face New Rift In Hancock Pact

NEW CUMBERLAND — A disgruntled delegation from the Hancock County School Service Personnel Association and their legal advisor appeared before the Hancock County Board of Education during a conference meeting held Monday night.

Frank Pietranton, counsel for the non-teaching personnel of the district, informed the board he wished to enter into discussions concerning a "declaration of policy agreement" that would set down specific guidelines governing the board and the administration in dealings with the personnel.

Fred Barnabei, board president, informed the group the board would not enter into any direct negotiations on this agreement since it has empowerd Dr. Vernon Wyland, superintendent, to act in its behalf on this issue.

He noted members received a photo copy of the agreement March 6 and are not able to make any judgement on the instrument on such a short time.

Pietranton agreed this was a short time to consider the entire package, but he said his purpose was not to ratify the agreement, but to enter into negotiations concerning the various items he agreement contains.

Atty. Pietranton added portions of the agreement had been drawn up by him after being told by the board's former legal counsel to select a suitable method and incorporate it into the agreement for study. He said this was in relation to the setting up of a common grievance procedure for the non-teaching personnel.

He said it is his understanding the administration is not living up to an agreement reached in November which ended a nearly two-week long boycott of the non-teaching staff.

He said this concerned wage and grievances.

This was denied by board members and Dr. Wyland who said the administration has no knowledge of any employee not being paid his proper salary. They added there is a proper grievance procedure which merely entails the person speaking to his immediate supervisor to initiate action on the problem.

Members said they have lived up to in principal to all terms of the agreement, verbally worked out in November.

Dr. Wyland pointed out on two occasions last month he sent letters to Rev. George Stewart, president of the non-teaching association, requesting meetings be held on any grievance the employees have. He added no replay was received on either of the communications.

expenses total $4,000. Repairs to the city building are expected to cost $1,500 and Street Department expenses are expected to reach $15,397. The street figure includes seal coating of some thoroughfares.

Insurance on the city's buildings and property will run $5,000. General expenses for the fire department are expected to be $4,000, about the same as last year. The budget for stationery, office supplies and equipment was increased from $200 to $450.

Expenses for the city hall utilities are expected to be $1,950. Street lighting will cost $4,300.

The figure for the year beginning July 1 were set forth by Clerk Donald Hood.

He pointed out that while the current budget is designed not to exceed $71,484, actual disbursements will be nearly $7,000 more because of a utility tax increase granted earlier, which will bring additional revenue and bring the year's total receipts to nearly $78,000.

With that increase this year, next year's budget will be only about $5,413 more than the current expenditure estimate, it was pointed out.

Hood explained the levy rates under which the city receives real estate tax money from the Hancock sheriff's office were passed in 1932 and have remained unchanged since then

—:—

THE RATES call for 12.5 cents per $100 for Class I property, farm machinery, stocks, bonds and accounts receivable; 25 cents on Class II property, owner-occupied homes, and 50 cents per $100 on Class IV property, industries commercial properties and rented buildings.

The total assessed valuation for all classes in the city now is $9,221,500, a $200,000 increase over the valuation last year which was $8,999,950.

The dollars received from the levies will total $28,897, while the other $55,000 for the city's budget will come from taxes on capitation, utilities, and consumers' sales (liquor), licenses for electricians, plumbers and drivers, business licenses, police fines and rents on buildings.

Elvin Tams, owner of a restaurant there, told Council that because of the way in which the parking is now lined along 6th St. only four cars can park along the street on the west side.

—:—

DURING THE last meeting, Council instructed Street Commissioner Thomas Bowen to line the street for parallel parking instead of angle parking to facilitate the movement of school buses traveling to the Chester Primary school. Council took the action after some of its members investigated the problem further.

Tams told Council he believes some space on the west side of the street, next to the Arner Funeral Chapel, could be used for parking when the firm has no funerals.

Mayor Harold Ash pointed out Council has no jurisdiction over private property and Councilman Charles Mansfield told Tams he believes the Arners would have no objection to customers of the restaurant parking in the lot.

But Tams told members he thought parallel parking should be allowed on the other side of the street back to the alley, and said he was not speaking of Arners' private lote.

"Should one man be allowed to have so much open space?" he asked.

The mayor pointed out that before Arners built the new lot the curb was yellow-lined.

Council noted, however, that the decision to reduce parking space on the street was to promote the safety of school children and the buses and not to hurt Tams' business.

Tams also asked Council to enforce the two-hour parking limitation in the area, but Chief Cornell pointed out this could lead to complaints since motorists in other parts of the community, especially in the upper end, are permitted to park all day.

Cornell said no one could be ticketed unless all were cited for such an offense.

Council's street committee will investigate the 6th St. situation.

Members noted the city's police cruiser has been overhauled, but no bill received yet.

Mansfield, chairman of the street committee, told members slag has been received for Perry Rd. and the Ohio Tar and Asphalt Co. employes were to measure streets today for sealcoating in the spring.

He said there currently is enough blacktop for one day's use.

Mansfield asked Council to consider synchronizing all traffic lights to a set speed to facilitate the movement of vehicles.

Ash pointed out the lights were set that way a number of years ago.

Councilman William Tuttle said he had had several requests also and decided to check into the matter.

HOOD suggested the lights at 2nd and 4th Sts. be taken down, adding that motorists would be inconvenienced only a few days until they become used to it. But other councilmen and Ash expressed doubt that the plan is feasible. It will be studied by the street committee.

Mansfield will contact the Glass Janitorial Service to determine the cost of having windows in the city hall cleaned, inside and out. Hood said members should consider having the outside of the building painted this year.

At the request of Tuttle, who pointed out motorists continue to speed along Fairview Rd. and in other parts of the community, Ash said police would begin using radar as soon as the weather clears. Tuttle told Council of a small dog struck by a car and pointed out it could have been a small child as well.

He said Council should not wait until someone is killed to take action. Tuttle said he appreciates the police problems and that one officer cannot do everything when he is on duty, but added someone will be killed if speeders are not slowed.

Tuttle then asked Council to study the possibility of stop signs at Church Alley and Alley "C". He told of complaints that motorists go through the intersection without stopping.

Remittances totaled $387.30, including $262.05 in mayor's fines and an additional $105.29 from the Buckeye Union Insurance Co. for damages to the police cruiser.

Ash said the money was given the city for repairs to dents and scratches to the vehicle and that the total cost of repairs was $205.29, the city having paid the first $100.

The E. G. Jackson Agency handles the cruiser's insurance.

Bills totaled $4,073.40. Expenditures for February total $4,476.02. As of Feb. 28, the city's bank balance stood at $9,424.62.

Elvin Tams, owner of a restaurant there, told Council that because of the way in which the parking is now lined along 6th St. only four cars can park along the street on the west side.

DURING THE last meeting, Council instructed Street Commissioner Thomas Bowen to line the street for parallel parking instead of angle parking to facilitate the movement of school buses traveling to the Chester Primary school. Mayor Harold Ash pointed out Council has no jurisdiction over private property and Councilman Charles Mansfield told Tams he believes the Arners would have no objection to customers of the restaurant parking in the lot.

But Tams told members he thought parallel parking should be allowed on the other side of the street back to the alley, and said he was not speaking of Arners' private lote.

Cornell said no one could be ticketed unless all were cited for such an offense.

Council's street committee will investigate the 6th St. situation.

Members noted the city's police cruiser has been overhauled, but no bill received yet.

Mansfield, chairman of the street committee, told members slag has been received for Perry Rd. and the Ohio Tar and Asphalt Co. employes were to measure streets today for sealcoating in the spring.

He said there currently is enough blacktop for one day's use.

Mansfield asked Council to consider synchronizing all traffic lights to a set speed to facilitate the movement of vehicles.

Ash pointed out the lights were set that way a number of years ago.

Councilman William Tuttle said he had had several requests also and decided to check into the matter.

HOOD suggested the lights at 2nd and 4th Sts. be taken down, adding that motorists would be inconvenienced only a few days until they become used to it. But other councilmen and Ash expressed doubt that the plan is feasible. It will be studied by the street committee.

Mansfield will contact the Glass Janitorial Service to determine the cost of having windows in the city hall cleaned, inside and out. Hood said members should consider having the outside of the building painted this year.

At the request of Tuttle, who pointed out motorists continue to speed along Fairview Rd. and in other parts of the community, Ash said police would begin using radar as soon as the weather clears. Tuttle told Council of a small dog struck by a car and pointed out it could have been a small child as well.

He said Council should not wait until someone is killed to take action. Tuttle said he appreciates the police problems and that one officer cannot do everything when he is on duty, but added someone will be killed if speeders are not slowed.

Tuttle then asked Council to study the possibility of stop signs at Church Alley and Alley "C". He told of complaints that motorists go through the intersection without stopping.

Remittances totaled $387.30, including $262.05 in mayor's fines and an additional $105.29 from the Buckeye Union Insurance Co. for damages to the police cruiser.

Ash said the money was given the city for repairs to dents and scratches to the vehicle and that the total cost of repairs was $205.29, the city having paid the first $100.

The E. G. Jackson Agency handles the cruiser's insurance.

Bills totaled $4,073.40. Expenditures for February total $4,476.02. As of Feb. 28, the city's bank balance stood at $9,424.62.

Unwanted Medal

Widow Accepts Citation In Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — A widow refused for months to accept a Medal of Honor awarded her husband for bravery in Vietnam, then consented to receive it only in secret.

Mrs. Mary Jo Sargent of Hampton, Va., widow of Army 1st Lt. Ruppert Leon Sargent, was given the nation's highest military award by a brigadier general who called at her home Monday, Pentagon sources said. Lt. Sargent was killed in 1967 when he fell on two enemy hand grenades.

She wanted no publicity and opposed accepting the medal for religious reasons, her mother said. Both are Jehovah's Witnesses.

The unusual incident was a source of keen embarrassment and frustration for the Army.

Officials said they could not recall a similar instance, but in 1952 Halsey McGovern refused to accept a Medal of Honor awarded posthumously to one of his sons killed in Korea, contending President Harry S. Truman was "unworthy to confer" it.

"I think we were at the point once where we just wanted to pack up the award and mail it to her," one Army officer commented.

Mrs. Sargent could not be reached for comment.

The lieutenant's mother, Mrs. Janet Sargent, said in Hampton that both she and her daughter-in-law opposed the award because of their beliefs as Jehovah's Witnesses. She would not explain further.

Generally, Jehovah's Witnesses believe in allegiance only to God and not to organized governments or religion.

Pentagon officers said they understood Sargent's mother opposed his being in the military. Their records showed he was not a draftee, but volunteered in 1959 and became an officer in 1965.

Military sources in Washington said records indicated former President Johnson approved the medal for Sargent in July 1968.

Because of the family's reluctance to accept it, the award had to be approved again when President Nixon took office.

In accordance with the widow's wishes, the Army planned no announcement of any sort about Sargent's award even though it was going into the records as the 75th Medal of Honor given in the Vietnam war and would have been impossible to conceal.

The text of the citation was provided to newsmen after word of the secret ceremony got around. It still bore the notation: "No distribution will be made of this release—per request of next of kin."

The citation said Sargent, then 29, was led by a former Viet Cong soldier on March 15, 1967, to a reported weapons cache in a tunnel in a deserted village in South Vietnam's Hau Nghia Province.

Sargent saw that the tunnel was booby trapped.

An attempt to destroy the booby trap failed, but enemy soldiers were flushed out. One hurled two hand grenades into the midst of Sargent's men.

"Lt. Sargent fired three shots at the enemy, then turned and unhesitatingly threw himself over the two grenades," the citation said.

"He was mortally wounded, and his two companions were lightly wounded when the grenades exploded.

"By this courageous and selfless act of exceptional heroism, he saved the lives of the platoon sergeant and forward observer and prevented the injury or death of several other nearby comrades.

"Lt. Sargent's actions were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Army."

An Army officer in the Pentagon, reading the citation, said he felt Mrs. Sargent had no right to try to keep her husband's Medal of Honor a secret.

"He belongs to the country now," the officer said.

'Superior', 'Excellent' Ratings Given Singers

Also rated "superior" was a mixed vocal ensemble comprised of Miss Howell, Bush, Janet Lewis, Lola Porter, Janet Stover, Craig Russell, Brad Call and Dick Meadows.

Frank R. Pokorny, president of the commissioners, said of Monday's action: "The county has no other way to go" for needed additional revenue.

Rock 'N Roll Music Seen Rising In World

CINCINNATI (AP) — Rock n' roll music is captivating to young persons and is becoming important in the music world, the president of the Music Teachers National Association declared Monday.

Willis Ducrest, speaking at an MTNA convention here, emphasized that "something lasting" will come from rock n' roll and 100 years from now might become as important as Bach in the music field.

Thief Repents

A YMCA resident told police Monday $2,000 was returned to his room as mysteriously as it disappeared, along with an apology from the thief and a promise to make restitution of $100 more.

John Pritchard told officers $2,150 was taken from a dresser drawer in a three-minute interval Saturday when he went to a bathroom 10 feet away, leaving his door unlocked.

On Sunday, he said, he found an envelope under his door containing $2,000 and a note: "Sorry I took the money, John. Will return the other $100 later." He reported the return of the money to police Monday.

Despite the gesture, there's an apparent error in the thief's arithmetic. Police said the loss was $2,150 — 21 $100 bills and $50 more in currency of smaller denomination.

Student Injured When School Bus And Auto Collide

A Hancock County student was injured when a school bus in which she was riding Monday morning was struck by an auto.

Rhonda Anderson, about 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson of New Cumberland RD 1, was treated at City Hospital for contusions of the right side. She is a fourth grade student.

The girl and about 35 other pupils bound for the New Manchester elementary school were passengers in a bus driven by Elbert Allison, 30, of Chester RD 1.

Hancock sheriff's deputies said the bus was struck by an auto driven by Patricia Gallagher, 34 of 120 National Rd., Weirton, when the vehicle slid into the bus on Gas Valley Rd. near the intersection of Route 8. The mishap occurred about 8:30. No arrests were made.

Truck Slides And Hits Pole On W. 3rd St.

Traffic was snarled on W. 3rd St. late Monday night after a truck slid on icy pavement, sheared off a streetlight standard and then veered across the street and knocked down a city-owned traffic sign, police reported.

The mishap, timed at 10:50 at W. 3rd St. and Persimmon Alley, damaged the front of a 1965 model truck operated by Larry G. Kimmel, 27, of RD 1, who was cited on a charge of failure to have his vehicle under control.

Kimmel said he was traveling east when a car ahead of him started to brake for the traffic light at Jefferson St. and then began to slide. Kimmel applied his brakes, losing control of the truck. After shearing off the streetlight pole, it skidded across the roadway and halted broadside to the traffic lane, knocking down a "No Parking" standard.

A SKID also was blamed for a mishap at 11:23 p.m. on Dresden Ave. at Trentvale St. that damaged a 1964 two-door sedan driven by Kendall R. Gilkinson, 20, of Westfield Rd. and a 1966 sedan operated by Clarence E. Lennens, 40, of 22-B, Midland Heights, Midland.

Gilkinson told police his car began to slide as he drove north on Dresden. He said he controlled the skid, but a passenger grabbed his arm and caused his auto to go left of the center line. Lennens said as he drove south he saw Gilkinson's car slide and then straighten up. As he approached, Gilkinson lost control again and slid into the path of his car, Lennens said.

Norman G. Curtis, 19, of 319 Garfield St. told officers his 1966 sedan was damaged when struck by a hit-skip vehicle Monday night at 10:46 on Elizabeth St. at Pennsylvania Ave. He said his auto was hit by a red pickup truck carrying Pennsylvania license. The other driver stopped momentarily and then drove away without identifying himself, Curtis said.

A COLLISION at 3:23 p.m. Monday on Pennsylvania Ave. at Central Ave. damaged a 1967 sedan driven by Nick Zubick, 55, of 1705 Etruria St. and another 1967 sedan operated by Jean M. McDevitt, 31, of 1619 Alpha St.

Zubick was driving east on Pennsylvania Ave. and the woman was turning from Central Ave. onto Pennsylvania Ave. The woman said her view was blocked by oncoming traffic. She also said an unidentified driver of a school bus halted and signaled for her to pull into the intersection.

A mishap at Drury Ln. and East Alley at 2:31 p.m. damaged a 1965 auto driven by William Kozel Jr., 32, of St. Clair Ave. Ext. and a 1964 four-door sedan driven by Thomas C. Buckley, 33, of 207 W. 7th St. and owned by the Yellow Cab Co., officers said. Kozel was driving north in East Alley and the cab was moving east in Drury Ln.

Court Rejects New Plea On Sheriff Race

The Hancock County Committee on Voter Rights petitioned the court last week through its attorney, Floyd Tarr of Donnel, Tarr and DelaMater of Weirton. Tarr just completed a term as Hancock prosecutor.

The petition of the committee, headed by Miss Anita Porter of New Cumberland, claimed that the high court's action which threw out all ballots in Precinct 32 in Butler District which were not signed by the proper two poll workers, would "promote and encourage fraudulent election practices."

"The voter should not be penalized or disenfranchised for a mistake as to who are poll clerks receiving the petition said.

The committee told the court that a voter who has seen his ballot signed by the two election officials who purport to be poll clerks receiving, has done everything possible to insure that he has an official ballot property signed.

The court, in a rare break with custom, explained why it rejected the voters' petition. The judges said it was not considered because "none of the applicants is a party to the proceeding and the attorneys are not attorneys of record for any party."

Meanwhile, the Hancock Circuit Court has scheduled a hearing for Friday morning at 9:15 on a petition filed by Patrick's attorneys which would force county commissioners to vacate intended action to re-examine the ballots in the November sheriff's election. The action had been asked by Atty. Frank Pietranton, counsel for Smoleski.

Two of them, 15 and 17, also admitted the theft of a stereo and several tapes from a car in Hanoverton. They were ordered to spend 10 days in detention and to pay $50 fines at the rate of $2 per week.

The other two, 15 and 16, were sentenced to five days in detention and fined $25 each. Their detention time is to begin March 21.

All four were put on probation for one year. Judge Louis Tobin placed them on a 9 p.m. curfew until the end of the school year and ordered them to attend school every day and not to associate with each other.

The two with driver's licenses were ordered to surrender them for three months.

Court Rejects New Plea On Sheriff Race

The West Virginia Supreme Court Monday voted unanimously against rehearing a case in which it reversed the outcome of the Hancock County election for sheriff, installing Republican Ralph Patrick Jr. in place of the previously declared winner, Democrat Lou Smoleski.

The Hancock County Committee on Voter Rights petitioned the court last week through its attorney, Floyd Tarr of Donnel, Tarr and DelaMater of Weirton. Tarr just completed a term as Hancock prosecutor.

The petition of the committee, headed by Miss Anita Porter of New Cumberland, claimed that the high court's action which threw out all ballots in Precinct 32 in Butler District which were not signed by the proper two poll workers, would "promote and encourage fraudulent election practices."

"The voter should not be penalized or disenfranchised for a mistake as to who are poll clerks receiving the petition said.

The committee told the court that a voter who has seen his ballot signed by the two election officials who purport to be poll clerks receiving, has done everything possible to insure that he has an official ballot property signed.

The court, in a rare break with custom, explained why it rejected the voters' petition. The judges said it was not considered because "none of the applicants is a party to the proceeding and the attorneys are not attorneys of record for any party."

Meanwhile, the Hancock Circuit Court has scheduled a hearing for Friday morning at 9:15 on a petition filed by Patrick's attorneys which would force county commissioners to vacate intended action to re-examine the ballots in the November sheriff's election. The action had been asked by Atty. Frank Pietranton, counsel for Smoleski.

'No Qualifications Whatsover'

Sen. Young Not Worried By Reports On Glenn Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, says he is not worried by reports former astronaut John Glenn may seek his Senate seat in 1970 because Glenn "has no qualifications whatsoever to be a U.S. Senator."

"It's far too early for me to make a definite announcement on what I'll do in 1970," said the 79 - year - old Young. But Glenn's interest in his Senate seat is "no interest to me," he said.

Young said "He (Glenn) was a good test pilot. A brave eastonaut. He has no qualifications whatsoever to be a U.S. Senator."

Then he attacked Glenn's qualifications as if he was in the thick of a political contest.

Young said Glenn, a native of New Concord, Ohio, voted for Richard M. Nixon for president in 1960, is not a resident of Ohio and did not vote in the Democratic primaries of 1964 and 1966.

He speculated Glenn could run as a Republican for the U.S. Senate in New York City, where he recently moved.

Young refused to speculate on his own political future, "At the moment," he said.

"We don't know," he added, "whether our primary will be in April or August."

Several bills proposing to change the primary date are currently pending in the Ohio Legislature.

Young predicted the Sentinel antiballistic missle proposal would be defeated in the Senate by a close vote.

He said "If it is perpetrated it could well be the most gigantic boondoggle ever put across on the American public."

Young said America's greatest defense was it's powerful offense. He said the United States now has the capability of destroying every person in the Soviet Union.

"I see no reason to kill Russians twice," he said.

Young, in Ohio to appear on a Dayton television program predicted U.S. troops would be brought home from Vietnam by December.

He said he expected between 100,000 and 200,000 troops to arrive earlier than that. A few weeks ago while in Akron he predicted they would be back by July.

Critics of the Congressional pay raise Young said, should realize there are more than 400 Agency for International Development (AID) employes making salaries of $44,000 in South Vietnam and Laos.

"They receive that. I know they don't earn it," said the outspoken senator. "Many of them," he added, "are divorced persons who were considered deadbeats in the United States."

Young said he would vote for the nucleur nonproliferation treaty when it is offered in the Senate.

He said he thought Nixon was doing "excellent" as President. Young at one time had called Nixon "politically dishonest."

He indicated, however, his attitude has changed since then. He said Nixon has done his homework and "He is my President now."

Asked if he thought Nixon would bring an end to the war, Young said:

"He has to, or the honeymoon will be over with a bang. I think he will."

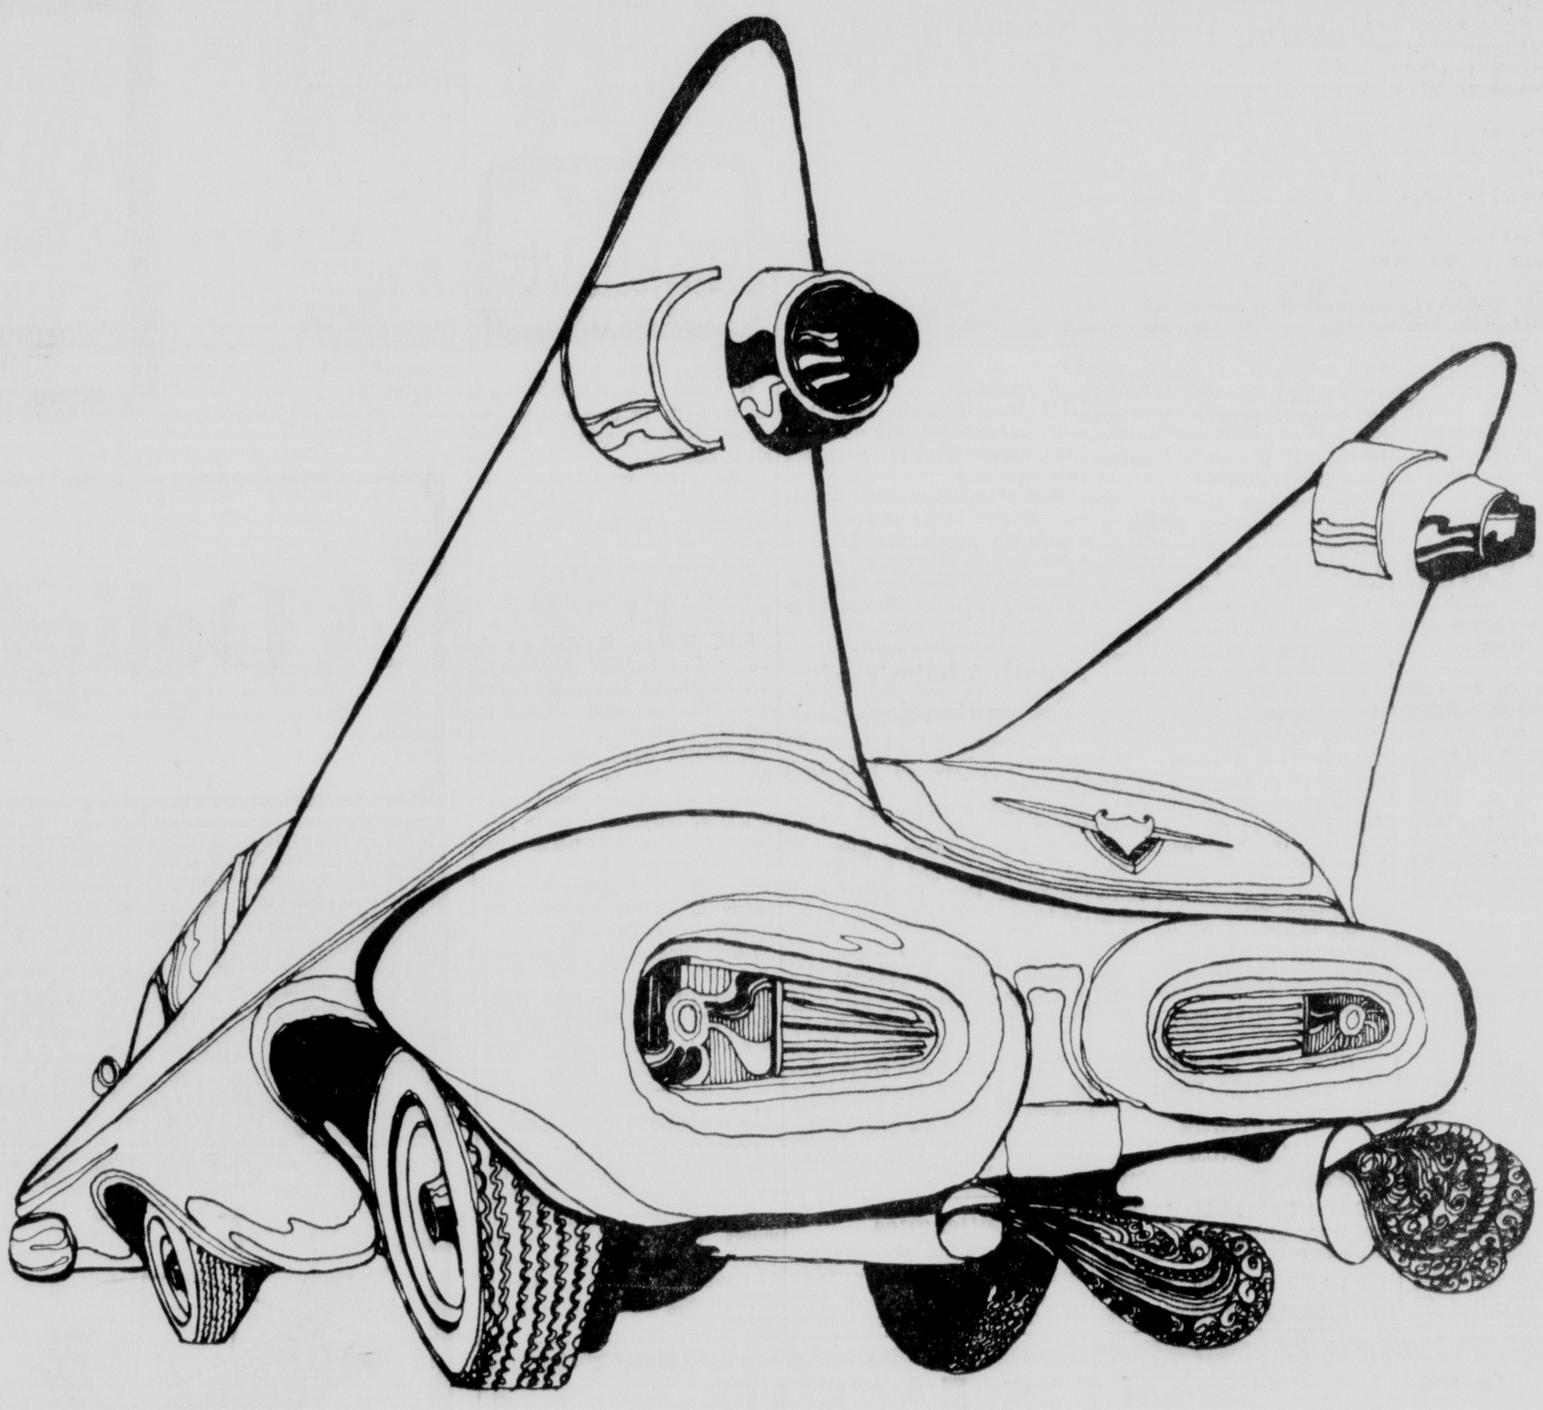
the year
of the funny fins.



Do you remember them? 10 years ago?

One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten long years ago?

Our reason for bringing up the funny fins of 1959 is to remind you that local telephone rates haven't gone up one cent since then, and long distance rates have gone down several times.

Yet, since 1959, it's been costing Ohio Bell more money each year to be a good phone company. Millions go to improve telephone service and to improve employees' wages.

Ohio Bell is still fighting to keep the price of your telephone service down. While just about everything else has gone up since 1959, telephone rates haven't.

It feels good to be able to keep rates low but it's not easy. It's kind of like driving a '59 car on a '69 expressway.

Surveys Started For Maine Blvd. Housing Project

Fountain Circle Builders of Dayton has started surveys and staking - out of sites for a 130-unit housing development off Maine Blvd. for low - income families which it will build for the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Fountain Circle will erect the turnkey project for Housing Associates, Inc., of Columbus, the developer named by the housing authority for the $2,383,281 project. Merrill D. Hall, executive director of the authority, said no date has been set for excavations that will mark the start of actual construction. No formal ground - breaking ceremony is planned, he added.

The way was cleared for the project when deeds to 61 lots comprising the site were transferred last week on Courthouse records. Most of the property was transferred to Housing Associates from Riverview Acres, Inc., a local concern which owned the land.

The property later was mortgaged to Walter E. Heller & Co. as construction lender to Housing Associates. The Title Guarantee & Trust Co. of Akron now holds the deeds as trustee pursuant to the agreement between Housing Associates, Heller and Title Guarantee. The loan made by Heller will be repaired from the payment made by the housing authority when the project is completed.

Pennsylvania Senate Moves To Aid Philadelphia Schools

HARRISBURG (AP) — Financial relief for Philadelphia's public schools began moving through the Senate Monday, giving that city's education officials hope it would arrive in time to save the schools from an early closing.

The impetus for the relief most likely was an agreement between Senate Republicans and House Democrats to maintain the sales tax 6 per cent.

Sources within the House Republican caucus said a message was delivered to each party caucus in both houses indicating that such an agreement had been reached.

In another important development in education, House Democratic leaders naid they would attempt to amend a $160 million school subsidy bill to provide more money for urban areas.

These actions highlighted a legislative day in which all developments except the tax agreement were in the House chamber. These included:

— Passage by 143-25 of a bill to eliminate state senatorial scholarships by July 1, 1973.

— A move by Democrats to kill a House Republican plan for a budget proposal that the GOP lawmakers said would avert the need for an income tax.

— A bill introduced by GOP Whip Robert J. Butera, R-Montgomery, that would provide compensation to innocent victims of crime or their dependents.

— Introduction of a bill sponsored by 30 Democrats to require that a skull and crossbones be printed on cigarette packs along with a message that smoking could cause death by cancer.

The Philadelphia school bill moved to the Senate floor despite a denial by GOP leaders that there was any sales tax agreement. The measure would restore a 4¼ mill increase in Philadelphia's real estate tax.

The Senate Republicans held up the bill last week, hoping to get a promise from House Democrats to push through the 6 per cent sales tax bill.

Surveys Started For Maine Blvd. Housing Project

Fountain Circle Builders of Dayton has started surveys and staking - out of sites for a 130-unit housing development off Maine Blvd. for low - income families which it will build for the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Fountain Circle will erect the turnkey project for Housing Associates, Inc., of Columbus, the developer named by the housing authority for the $2,383,281 project. Merrill D. Hall, executive director of the authority, said no date has been set for excavations that will mark the start of actual construction. No formal ground - breaking ceremony is planned, he added.

The way was cleared for the project when deeds to 61 lots comprising the site were transferred last week on Courthouse records. Most of the property was transferred to Housing Associates from Riverview Acres, Inc., a local concern which owned the land.

The property later was mortgaged to Walter E. Heller & Co. as construction lender to Housing Associates. The Title Guarantee & Trust Co. of Akron now holds the deeds as trustee pursuant to the agreement between Housing Associates, Heller and Title Guarantee. The loan made by Heller will be repaired from the payment made by the housing authority when the project is completed.

Pennsylvania Senate Moves To Aid Philadelphia Schools

HARRISBURG (AP) — Financial relief for Philadelphia's public schools began moving through the Senate Monday, giving that city's education officials hope it would arrive in time to save the schools from an early closing.

The impetus for the relief most likely was an agreement between Senate Republicans and House Democrats to maintain the sales tax 6 per cent.

Sources within the House Republican caucus said a message was delivered to each party caucus in both houses indicating that such an agreement had been reached.

In another important development in education, House Democratic leaders naid they would attempt to amend a $160 million school subsidy bill to provide more money for urban areas.

These actions highlighted a legislative day in which all developments except the tax agreement were in the House chamber. These included:

— Passage by 143-25 of a bill to eliminate state senatorial scholarships by July 1, 1973.

— A move by Democrats to kill a House Republican plan for a budget proposal that the GOP lawmakers said would avert the need for an income tax.

— A bill introduced by GOP Whip Robert J. Butera, R-Montgomery, that would provide compensation to innocent victims of crime or their dependents.

— Introduction by the Democratic leadership of a package of bills to regulate lobbyists and otherwise modernize state government.

— Introduction of a bill sponsored by 30 Democrats to require that a skull and crossbones be printed on cigarette packs along with a message that smoking could cause death by cancer.

The Philadelphia school bill moved to the Senate floor despite a denial by GOP leaders that there was any sales tax agreement. The measure would restore a 4¼ mill increase in Philadelphia's real estate tax.

The Senate Republicans held up the bill last week, hoping to get a promise from House Democrats to push through the 6 per cent sales tax bill.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

A Quickie Shrimp Sauce

DEAR FOLKS: A friend took me to a fabulous place to eat shrimp last week. But when I asked for shrimp sauce, the waiter brought a bottle of catsup I was so flabbergasted I didn't know what to say, but the conversation thing like this:

Heloise

Waiter: "Oh, just a minute. I'll be right back." (And he was, with the most beautiful and tasty sauce anyone could dip a finger in, much less shrimp.)

Heloise: "What's in it? You made it so quickly."

Watier (not realizing he was giving out a secret): "We take the thick catsup, add a bit of Worcestershire sauce and some horse radish. So I just mixed some up and brought it back."

Well, folks, I took some home and tried it myself. Works, too, just like he said and 'tis the greatest! Try it sometime. You'll love it.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When it comes to money-saving winners, I believe I have hit the jackpot.

I just finished making my three children's pajamas out of terry cloth towels. I used the large bath towels that come in detergent boxes.

The material is beautifully patterned, and the right weight. It's warm, washes and dries in a jiffy and, best of all, it costs only pennies. And no ironing. Soft and cuddly, too.

I cut my pattern from sheets of newspaper, using T-shirts and slacks as guides, and allowed for seam allowance.

I made them in about half an hour . . . even the scraps were pieced together to make pajamas for the real little ones.

MRS. ETHRIDGE.

DEAR HELOISE: I have discovered several facts about vegetables that I would like to pass on to others, especially to those who live alone or who prepare small quantities of fresh vegetables.

Lettuce will be fresh, crisp and unoxidized if you tear off one leaf at a time as it is needed. Every leaf, including the heart, will be choice and fresh even though it might not be used for several weeks.

Treat cauliflower and cabbage the same way.

Works for celery, too. Use each outside stalk first — as it grows from the stalk. Do not cut off the tops until you use each stalk.

When using half of a lemon, orange, tomato, cucumber or a similar fruit or vegetable, cut off and use the part that is fartherest from the stem end.

Put away the stem section for use at a later time. That part will always stay fresh longer than the other half. Use plastic wrap to seal in the juices.

LILLIAN MELON.

DEAR HELOISE: Whenever I send a congratulation card to the parents of a new baby, I cut the clipping of the birth announcement out of the local newspaper and send it with the card.

From experience I know the first few days at home with the new baby are very hectic ones. The new parents don't always remember to cut out the clipping themselves.

This made me very happy when our first baby was born and I'm sure other new mothers would appreciate it, too.

GWEN HOUTS.

We never do this when they are home because they might laught at us. We don't know "how." Remember? Sure is fun, tho.

MOM AND POP.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a hint for anyone who wants to brush up on their shorthand. It ceraitnly helped me.

The 'Supermarket Wolf'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The office wolf is being replaced by the supermarket wolf. He prowls the aisles with his small shopping cart looking for new conquests. Why does he haunt the supermarkets? For the same reason that sailors in summer go rowboating in Central Park—because that's where the girls are.

If you want to be on the safe side, never buy a secondhand car from a salesman who wears a diamond ring.

If the pocket watch isn't going to stage a comeback, why do clothiers keep turning out suits with watch pockets in them? They are about as useless today as earmuffs on hens.

Girls who graduate from parochial schools have better penmanship than those who went to public schools.

People who voluntarily live in the suburbs are masochists. They complain about being prisoners of a railroad timetable, but actually they enjoy this form of punishment. In some mysterious way the suffering makes them feel noble.

I always wonder why pigeons like to hang around church steps but never stroll in and listen to a sermon. Perhaps it is because, unlike people, they lead such simple lives they don't need sermons.

Why is it that no airline hostesses have developed into champion long-distance runners? After all, many of them now dog trot from New York to Los Angeles on jet flights.

If it makes you uncomfortable to sit on the same park bench with two young lovers, you're probably over the hill yourself.

The fame of the pioneer isn't always lasting. Who remembers the first robin of spring after the fourth and fifth arrive?

Girls have got another reason today for wanting to get wed—so they'll have a man around the house to help them pull off those tight high boots which so many wear now.

You can tell the quality of a restaurant by the cornbread sticks it serves. If they are fresh, tasty, and free from grease, you can bet your last dollar that the rest of the meal will be fine, too.

Experience is a priceless commodity, but nothing deteriorates in value more surely. No matter how much it cost you to acquire, you cannot leave it to your heirs and get much gratitude from them.

The guy who makes a point of always getting to the office five minutes early and leaving five minutes early and leaving five minutes after quitting time will probably never become head of the firm. Anyone that cautious doesn't have enough adventure in him to become a leader.

Mayor, Director To Study Bids On Office Machines

Mayor George E. Willshaw and Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey took under advisement four bids filled by two companies Monday noon on purchase of office machines for use in the office of Auditor L. J. Zollinger and the city income tax department.

The National Cash Register Co.'s Wheeling office bid $7,074 on a multi-purpose accounting machine for the auditor's office and offered delivery in 30 to 45 days. It bid $4,524 on a posting machine for the income tax office, specifying the same delivery time.

The Youngstown branch of the Burroughs Corp. bid $7,890 gross and $7,111.60 net on the machine for use of the auditor's office. It bid $4,440 gross and $3,956.60 net on the machine for the tax office. Each quotation included a 10 per cent "governmental discount" and an installation charge and the price on the income tax office device included a trade-in of the present machine. If an electric typewriter is required in conjunction with the tax office machine, the price would be $400, the Burroughs bid said.

America's Orbiting Astronomical Observatory, launched in December 1968, has received some 40,000 commands from earth and has responded with more than four million pieces of information about the stars.

When Farrell topped Penn Hills 70-59 Monday night, it was its seventh district championship in 17 years under coach Ed McCluskey. The Western Pennsylvania powerhouse also has claimed five PIAA titles—a state record.

The contest was in a round of scholastic basketball activity that featured the beginning of inter-district games in the PIAA playoffs.

Bullets Eclipse Suns, Gain On Idle 76ers

By The Associated Press

The Baltimore Bullets, who strayed off course in the West, were on target again today as they headed back East for the National Basketball Association stretch run.

Earl Monroe triggered an 84-point second half explosion Monday night and the Bullets whipped the Phoenix Suns 140-121 on the final stop of an eight-game road trip.

San Francisco, paced by Rudy LaRusso, downed Milwaukee 123-106 in the only other game on the NBA schedule.

Player-Coach Cliff Hagan came off the bench in the last quarter and carried the Dallas Chapparals to a 109-108 victory over the Miami Floridians in an American Basketball Association thriller.

Dick Van Arsdale scored 25 points and Gail Goodrich added 19 as Phoenix raced to a 64-56 halftime lead over the Bullets. But Monroe hit 10 points in the first five minutes of the third quarter and Baltimore shot ahead to stay.

Monroe had 33 points for Baltimore, but yielded game honors to Van Arsdale's 37.

La Runso popped in 33 points as San Francisco erased a 54-47 halftime deficit and ruined Milwaukee's home finale, handing the expansion Bucks their 50th setback in 74 games.

Hagan, who played only the last 12 minutes, scored 10 points and handed off two assists as Dallas nipped the Floridians, who led 103-97 with less than six minutes to play.

John Beasley's 24 points were high for the Chaps. Les Hunter had 28 for Miami, which has dropped four in a row.

YMCA Cage Tournament Under Way

Lion Coach Joe Schmidt Won't Quit

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions are hunting for a new chief talent scout, but Coach Joe Schmidt denies a report that he intends to resign as a result of a front-office shakeup.

Owner William Clay Ford confirmed Monday that the National Football League club has fired 38-year-old Carl Brettschneider, the former All-Star linebacker who, as director of player personnel for the Lions, helped bring the team three of the league's most talented rookies.

Schmidt pooh-poohed a statement by Brettschneider to Detroit News columnist Pete Waldmeir that General Manager "Russ Thomas and owner Bill Ford have as much as told Joe Schmidt that he is going to be fired after next season. So Joe is going to beat them to the punch and quit."

FRANK FRANCIS and dad Clarence (Bevo) Francis.

By MARTY RALBOVSKY

HIGHLANDTOWN — Every morning at 5:45, Clarence (Bevo) Francis guides his 1961 Chevrolet pickup truck onto Route 39 for a 26-mile ride into Midland.

He arrives at 6:25, punches his time card, and goes into the loading area of the Crucible Steel Mill for another day's work. He is a shipper, and when the trucks come in he makes sure they get their precise loads of steel before he signs all the papers and waves them off.

At 3:45 p.m., his workday completed, he pulls into the driveway of the home he has owned for the last 13 years in this tiny hamlet. He sips a beer while Jean prepares supper, and every so often curiosity forces him to scan the sports pages.

But, Bevo Francis says, sports — and basketball, in particular—are out of his life forever. He says he's a working man and a family man now, and the money in the steel mill isn't that bad, and he never did like all the traveling he did as a basketball player in the first place. "I have no regrets," he says.

Sixteen years have passed since Bevo Francis scored 113 points in one game for Rio Grande College against Hillsdale College. He blossomed into a national phenomenon, and little Rio (rye-o) Grande received so much publicity it actually wound up with feature billing one night in Madison Square Garden. Bevo averaged 50 points a game as a freshman, 53 as a sophomore.

Then, Bevo says, came the turning point in his life.

The Harlem Globetrotters offered him a contract worth $30,000 a year and threw in a job for his Rio Grande coach, Newt Oliver. Bevo quit school and became the star of the Boston Whirlwinds (Oliver was the coach). Together, they spent the next two years touring the world with the Globetrotters—and losing every game. (Teams that tour with the Globies never win.)

When his contract expired, it wasn't renewed. Bevo came home to Wellsville, Ohio, bounced from job to job, and finally used the remainder of his Globetrotter earnings to buy a home. "With a wife and two kids to support," he says, "I had no choice but to go out and earn a living like everyone else."

Bevo says the biggest mistake of his life was signing with the Globetrotters.

"If I had it to do all over again, I would have stayed in school. That degree would have meant a lot to me today. Without it, I have to work in the steel mill, but that's all right because the money isn't bad for the hours I put in. But I could have had it a lot easier with that degree."

Bevo says he rarely sees a basketball game anymore, and he hasn't been back to Rio Grande since he dropped out. His only association with sports is when he goes to watch his 16-year-old son, Frank, play for the Southern Local football team. Frank Francis is 6-foot-4, 225 pounds, and the team's star end.

"He also was a pretty good basketball player," says Bevo. "But he quit the team. Last season the team was 0-19 and Frank couldn't stand the frustration of losing. I felt bad that he quit, but it was his decision. He spends his spare time now pumping gas at a service station in town."

Now 36, Bevo says he's still in playing shape, but turns down the requests he gets every winter to play with local pick-up teams. "I haven't the time or desire to play. I've got to get up early in the morning to get to work on time and I'm not going to waste a lot of energy playing in nothing games. I've had all the basketball I want, anyway."

His 113 points against Hillsdale still stand as the most ever scored in one college game. But Bevo figures somebody will eventually score more. "It'll happen. I'm surprised nobody has done it already. As they say, records are made to be broken, and I won't feel bad when it happens."

Bevo says he rarely hears from Oliver, even though they were close at Rio Grande and with the Globetrotetrs. Oliver now resides in Springfield, Ohio, but Bevo says he isn't coaching basketball anymore.

"Last time I saw him," says Bevo, "he was running a hot dog stand."

Red Sox Hit 4 HRs

Punchless Nats Strand 11, Fall 4-0 To Kansas City

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Washington Senators wasted 11 base runners Monday and bowed to the new Kansas City Royals 4-0, giving Manager Williams an 0-for-4 collar in the exhibition baseball standings.

Meanwhile, the unbeaten Boston Red Sox, for whom Williams slammed 521 home runs, cleared the bases four times with homers in a 7-4 victory over the New York Mets.

In four games, three of them against the Kansas City expansion club, Washington has scored a total of eight runs. And five were tallied with the aid of just one hit in last Thursday's opener against the New York Yankees.

With Frank Howard, the American League's 1968 home run king, a holdout, the Senators' power failure has been acute. Their next home run will be their first. The Red Sox have walloped eight homers in three starts. Monday, Tony Conigliaro's kid brother, Billy, slugged his second in two days and Ken Harrelson, George Scott and pinch hitter Gerry Moses each connected in the eighth inning, breaking open a 3-3 struggle.

Galen Cisco, Steve Jones and Larry Sherry combined to scattered seven hits as the Royals blanked the punchless Senators. Jones, picked up from Washington in the expansion draft, hurled three hitless innings.

Buddy Bradford smacked Dick Radatz' first pitch for a homer in the 12th inning, sending the Chicago White Sox past the Detroit Tigers 6-5, and Frank Fernandez homered as the Yankees trimmed the Atlanta Braves 5-2 for a 3-0 exhibition mark.

Rookie first baseman Bob Robertson drilled a two-run first inning homer and stroked a run-scoring single in the second before leaving the game with a knee injury as the Pittsburgh Pirates downed St. Louis 6-0. Chuck Hartenstein, Barry Houser and Larry Killingsworth blanked the Cardinals on four hits. Robertson twisted his knee sliding in the second inning.

The Houston Astros spotted Los Angeles two first inning runs, then bunched five in the fifth—with Doug Rader's bases-loaded triple the big blow—for a 5-2 verdict over the Dodgers.

San Diego southpaw Dick Kelley hit one Cleveland batter, walked two more and then threw away a double play ball in the seventh inning, handing the Indians an unearned run and a 5-4 nod over the Padres.

Rookie Ron Stone's two-run single in a three-run fifth inning burst propelled the Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds and newcomer Ralph Garr drove in three runs in the Atlanta "B" team's 6-1 triumph over the Montreal Expos.

The San Francisco Giants-Chicago Cubs and Oakland Athletics- Seattle Pilots games were rained out.

Allen Joins Phils, Starts Hitting Ball

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Rich Allen starred on the Late Late Show—but it was nothing like the performance he put on once he slipped into a Philadelphia Phillies' uniform.

The Phillies controversial outfielder, who finally reported to spring training camp after three days' absence, aired out his bat Sunday with some screaming, long-distance shots out of Jack Russell Stadium. About 15 baseballs left the park.

"I'm here in camp now," Allen said, "I've signed my contract and I'm ready to give 100 per cent. (Manager Bob) Skinner is the boss, and I'll do what he wants."

Asked if Allen's tardiness didn't have an effect on the rest of the team, Skinner said: "I don't think so. If it has, it had a good effect.

"He (Allen) is now in camp and signed. The players all agree, as I do, he is a big man in our situation."

The fence-busting Allen, who had 33 home runs and 90 RBI last year, checked into camp Saturday evening. He had agreed to contract terms Feb. 27 by telephone, and told the Phillies' brass that he would be here March 4.

The Phillies inadvertently found Allen was in Miami when his photograph showed up in a local newspaper along with football star Joe Namath.

UCLA Will Shape Up After Surprise Loss

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"We'd better be a little better prepared," declared UCLA basketball coach John Wooden as his top-rated Bruins seek to rebound from a beating to win the national title.

Surprised 46-44 by Southern California on Saturday night in the regular season finale, ending a 41-game winning string, UCLA meets New Mexico State on Thursday in the first round of the NCAA western regionals.

USC used ball control tactics, sometimes referred to as stalling, in downing the Bruins after forcing them to two overtimes before losing on Friday.

Wooden said he has thought of an answer should the Aggies use the same tactics but added, "I'm not going to tell you," when asked about plans during Monday's meeting of the Southern California Basketball Writers.

Wooden recalled the regional game of last year when UCLA beat NMU 58-49 and commented "They gave us trouble last year with the same type of play," as he referred again to the control game.

Wooden was asked that if he had considered taking 7-foot-1 Lew Alcindor out of the Saturday night game to change its tempo.

Bevo says he rarely sees a basketball game anymore, and he hasn't been back to Rio Grande since he dropped out. His only association with sports is when he goes to watch his 16-year-old son, Frank, play for the Southern Local football team. Frank Francis is 6-foot-4, 225 pounds, and the team's star end.

"He also was a pretty good basketball player," says Bevo. "But he quit the team. Last season the team was 0-19 and Frank couldn't stand the frustration of losing. I felt bad that he quit, but it was his decision. He spends his spare time now pumping gas at a service station in town."

Now 36, Bevo says he's still in playing shape, but turns down the requests he gets every winter to play with local pick-up teams. "I haven't the time or desire to play. I've got to get up early in the morning to get to work on time and I'm not going to waste a lot of energy playing in nothing games. I've had all the basketball I want, anyway."

His 113 points against Hillsdale still stand as the most ever scored in one college game. But Bevo figures somebody will eventually score more. "It'll happen. I'm surprised nobody has done it already. As they say, records are made to be broken, and I won't feel bad when it happens."

Bevo says he rarely hears from Oliver, even though they were close at Rio Grande and with the Globetrotetrs. Oliver now resides in Springfield, Ohio, but Bevo says he isn't coaching basketball anymore.

"Last time I saw him," says Bevo, "he was running a hot dog stand."

Bullets Eclipse Suns, Gain On Idle 76ers

By The Associated Press

The Baltimore Bullets, who strayed off course in the West, were on target again today as they headed back East for the National Basketball Association stretch run.

Earl Monroe triggered an 84-point second half explosion Monday night and the Bullets whipped the Phoenix Suns 140-121 on the final stop of an eight-game road trip.

The victory snapped a four-game losing streak for the Bullets and moved them 1½ games ahead of idle Philadelphia in the Eastern Division pennant race.

San Francisco, paced by Rudy LaRusso, downed Milwaukee 123-106 in the only other game on the NBA schedule.

Player-Coach Cliff Hagan came off the bench in the last quarter and carried the Dallas Chapparals to a 109-108 victory over the Miami Floridians in an American Basketball Association thriller.

Dick Van Arsdale scored 25 points and Gail Goodrich added 19 as Phoenix raced to a 64-56 halftime lead over the Bullets. But Monroe hit 10 points in the first five minutes of the third quarter and Baltimore shot ahead to stay.

Monroe had 33 points for Baltimore, but yielded game honors to Van Arsdale's 37.

La Runso popped in 33 points as San Francisco erased a 54-47 halftime deficit and ruined Milwaukee's home finale, handing the expansion Bucks their 50th setback in 74 games.

Hagan, who played only the last 12 minutes, scored 10 points and handed off two assists as Dallas nipped the Floridians, who led 103-97 with less than six minutes to play.

John Beasley's 24 points were high for the Chaps. Les Hunter had 28 for Miami, which has dropped four in a row.

YMCA Cage Tournament Under Way

Playoff champ St. Aloysius got off to a good start in the YMCA Church League basketball tournament Saturday night with a 24-4 win over Chester Nazarene.

In other games, LaCroft downed Wellsville Methodist 27-10, Emmanuel Presbyterian downed St. Stephen's 18-9, First UP thumped East End 26-10, Calvary Methodist nipped Chester Methodist 12-9, Glenmoor rapped Boyce 24-8 and First Nazarene downed Oakland Free Methodist 27-18.

Lion Coach Joe Schmidt Won't Quit

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions are hunting for a new chief talent scout, but Coach Joe Schmidt denies a report that he intends to resign as a result of a front-office shakeup.

Owner William Clay Ford confirmed Monday that the National Football League club has fired 38-year-old Carl Brettschneider, the former All-Star linebacker who, as director of player personnel for the Lions, helped bring the team three of the league's most talented rookies.

Schmidt pooh-poohed a statement by Brettschneider to Detroit News columnist Pete Waldmeir that General Manager "Russ Thomas and owner Bill Ford have as much as told Joe Schmidt that he is going to be fired after next season. So Joe is going to beat them to the punch and quit."

Red Sox Hit 4 HRs

Punchless Nats Strand 11, Fall 4-0 To Kansas City

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Washington Senators wasted 11 base runners Monday and bowed to the new Kansas City Royals 4-0, giving Manager Williams an 0-for-4 collar in the exhibition baseball standings.

Meanwhile, the unbeaten Boston Red Sox, for whom Williams slammed 521 home runs, cleared the bases four times with homers in a 7-4 victory over the New York Mets.

In four games, three of them against the Kansas City expansion club, Washington has scored a total of eight runs. And five were tallied with the aid of just one hit in last Thursday's opener against the New York Yankees.

With Frank Howard, the American League's 1968 home run king, a holdout, the Senators' power failure has been acute. Their next home run will be their first. The Red Sox have walloped eight homers in three starts. Monday, Tony Conigliaro's kid brother, Billy, slugged his second in two days and Ken Harrelson, George Scott and pinch hitter Gerry Moses each connected in the eighth inning, breaking open a 3-3 struggle.

Galen Cisco, Steve Jones and Larry Sherry combined to scattered seven hits as the Royals blanked the punchless Senators. Jones, picked up from Washington in the expansion draft, hurled three hitless innings.

Buddy Bradford smacked Dick Radatz' first pitch for a homer in the 12th inning, sending the Chicago White Sox past the Detroit Tigers 6-5, and Frank Fernandez homered as the Yankees trimmed the Atlanta Braves 5-2 for a 3-0 exhibition mark.

Rookie first baseman Bob Robertson drilled a two-run first inning homer and stroked a run-scoring single in the second before leaving the game with a knee injury as the Pittsburgh Pirates downed St. Louis 6-0. Chuck Hartenstein, Barry Houser and Larry Killingsworth blanked the Cardinals on four hits. Robertson twisted his knee sliding in the second inning.

The Houston Astros spotted Los Angeles two first inning runs, then bunched five in the fifth—with Doug Rader's bases-loaded triple the big blow—for a 5-2 verdict over the Dodgers.

San Diego southpaw Dick Kelley hit one Cleveland batter, walked two more and then threw away a double play ball in the seventh inning, handing the Indians an unearned run and a 5-4 nod over the Padres.

Rookie Ron Stone's two-run single in a three-run fifth inning burst propelled the Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds and newcomer Ralph Garr drove in three runs in the Atlanta "B" team's 6-1 triumph over the Montreal Expos.

The San Francisco Giants-Chicago Cubs and Oakland Athletics- Seattle Pilots games were rained out.

Allen Joins Phils, Starts Hitting Ball

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Rich Allen starred on the Late Late Show—but it was nothing like the performance he put on once he slipped into a Philadelphia Phillies' uniform.

The Phillies controversial outfielder, who finally reported to spring training camp after three days' absence, aired out his bat Sunday with some screaming, long-distance shots out of Jack Russell Stadium. About 15 baseballs left the park.

"I'm here in camp now," Allen said, "I've signed my contract and I'm ready to give 100 per cent. (Manager Bob) Skinner is the boss, and I'll do what he wants."

Asked if Allen's tardiness didn't have an effect on the rest of the team, Skinner said: "I don't think so. If it has, it had a good effect.

"He (Allen) is now in camp and signed. The players all agree, as I do, he is a big man in our situation."

The fence-busting Allen, who had 33 home runs and 90 RBI last year, checked into camp Saturday evening. He had agreed to contract terms Feb. 27 by telephone, and told the Phillies' brass that he would be here March 4.

The Phillies inadvertently found Allen was in Miami when his photograph showed up in a local newspaper along with football star Joe Namath.

Ashland, Ky. Wesleyan Picks In Small College

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Defending champion Kentucky Wesleyan and top-ranked Ashland College of Ohio are favored to battle their way into the championship game of the NCAA college division basketball tournament Friday night.

Eight regional winners open the 13th annual meet in Roberts Stadium Wednesday afternoon. With the Ashland Eagles and the No. 6 Wesleyan Panthers in opposite brackets, they seem headed on a collision course in the finale.

The first round pairings:

2:30 p.m. EST — San Francisco State (20-8) vs. American International of Springfield, Mass. (19-3). 4:30 p.m. —Montclair (N.J.) State (24-2) vs. Southwest Missouri of Springfield (22-4).

8 p.m. — Oglethorpe of Atlanta, Ga. (23-4) vs. Kentucky Wesleyan of Owensboro (22-5). 10 p.m. — Illinois State of Normal (19-9) vs. Ashland (25-2).

Kentucky Wesleyan, winner in 1966 as well as last year when Bob Daniels made his debut as head coach, is powered by little All-American George Tinsley, a 6-5 senior whose 23-point average is tops in the tournament. Rouunding out the balanced attack are Gene Smith 11.3, Tom Hobgood 11.6 and Joel Bolden 10.7.

The Oglethorpe Stormy Petrels a third-place finisher in 1963, are ranked fourth nationally in free throw percentage with .769 and are paced by Mike Dahl, 6-5 senior. Dahl has a 19.1 average with a stunning .525 field goal accuracy. Ernie Crain is hitting at a 15.9 clip.

The Ashland Eagles are the nation's leading defensive club, holding foes to a 32.3 scoring average. Wayne Sokolowski, 6-9 junior, is averaging 11.1 in the disciplined offense and Jim Williams, 6-8 senior, is 10-5 with .529 from the floor.

Illinois State's Redbirds, who took fourth in 1967, have fine balance with six players in double figures headed by Blaine Royer with 19.7 and Mike Green 13.9. The team's scoring average of 87.8 is the tournament high.

San Francisco's Golden Gator getting their first tourney shot at Evansville, have the meet's best field goal percentage with .498 and third highest scorer, Joe Callaghan, 6-6 senior, with 21.2. Adding to the punch is another 6-6 senior, Girard Chapman, with 20.8. The Gators played five overtime games during the season, winning three of them.

The Yellow Jackets of American International have a 13-game winning streak. They are geared by Greg Hill, a 6-3 junior, with 20.0, Rob Rutherford 15.4 and Curtis Mitchell 13.1. The Jackets were beaten in the quarter-finals in 1959 and 1968.

The Montclair Indians, another newcomer at Evansville, lead in rebound average with a hefty 63.2. It is the first team to go through the New Jersey College Conference unbeaten, and has the meet's longest winning streak, 15 games.

Luther Bowen, 5-9 senior, tops four regulars in double figures with 21.5 while Bob Lester has 14.3 averages in both scoring and rebounding.

The No. 12 Southwest Missouri Bears are tournament wise, making three previous trips and taking runnerup honors in 1967 and 1959.

They have won 11 straight games and are headed by Curtis Perry, 6-7 junior and a second team little All-American. Perry is clicking at 20.4 with a 15.3 rebound average, high for the tourney. Sophomore Chuck Williams adds to the attack with 18.1.

UCLA Will Shape Up After Surprise Loss

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"We'd better be a little better prepared," declared UCLA basketball coach John Wooden as his top-rated Bruins seek to rebound from a beating to win the national title.

Surprised 46-44 by Southern California on Saturday night in the regular season finale, ending a 41-game winning string, UCLA meets New Mexico State on Thursday in the first round of the NCAA western regionals.

USC used ball control tactics, sometimes referred to as stalling, in downing the Bruins after forcing them to two overtimes before losing on Friday.

Wooden said he has thought of an answer should the Aggies use the same tactics but added, "I'm not going to tell you," when asked about plans during Monday's meeting of the Southern California Basketball Writers.

Wooden recalled the regional game of last year when UCLA beat NMU 58-49 and commented "They gave us trouble last year with the same type of play," as he referred again to the control game.

Wooden was asked that if he had considered taking 7-foot-1 Lew Alcindor out of the Saturday night game to change its tempo.

Injuries Plagued Pirates In Shepard's First Year

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — When Larry Shepard got the word from Joe Brown, Pittsburgh general manager, that he was rehired for another term as manager of the Pirates, he called up his wife.

"We're going to be back in Pittsburgh," said Shepard with a lilt in his voice.

"That's nice," replied Mrs. Shepard.

It was that kind of a year for the Shepard family—Larry, wife Joyce and Larry, Jr., his 13-year-old son.

"I managed 19 years," said Shepard, "and I never had one like that. I begin to wonder if St. Jude had left me."

Gene Alley couldn't throw. Bill Mazeroski couldn't run. Roberto Clemente hurt his shoulder and couldn't take his normal swing. Willie Stargell ran into a wall.

Freddie Patek, Alley's standin, was hit by a pitch. Jim Bunning pulled a muscle and then sprained an ankle. Tommie Sisk twisted an ankle. It was a wonder Shepard didn't cut his throat.

After waiting all these years to get a chance to manage in the big leagues, Shepard found himself the boss of a walking hospital. The Pirates, picked by the writers to finish second to St. Louis, trundled home sixth, 17 games back.

"I still think we had the material to compete with anybody in the National League," said Shepard, "but everything went wrong."

"This year I hope we can find a little more sting. And we're going to spend more time on fundamentals.

"I don't know yet how the kids will work out. We have to replace both Maury Wills and Donn Clendenon, who went in the expansion draft. If the big guys can help carry the load and if we can avoid those injuries, we should be all right."

Shepard has two youngsters —Al Oliver and Bob Robertson fighting for Clendon's old first base job. Oliver hit .315 with 14 homers at Columbus in Triple A.

Robertson missed the 1968 season because of surgery for a kidney ailment but he hit with power in four previous years in the minors. They may platoon the job.

The old problems of '68 came back to haunt Shepard in spring training when Alley, his regular shortstop, was sent to Norristown, Pa. for observation for a mysterious shoulder ailment. Alley hurt the shoulder in late '67 and had trouble putting anything on the ball last year, while slumping to .245.

Patek, the 5-foot-4, might mite, may become the regular.

Mazeroski never was able to shake off a bad muscle pull last year and was unable to work himself into top condition. A winter of rest has restored the Maz of old. "He got up to 195 and ground balls even went through his legs," said Shepard. Now he's down to 185."

Clemente, a four-time batting champion, took it easy all winter. The shoulder injury, that resulted from a fall at his home a year ago, apparently has healed. He has been stinging the ball in practice.

Stargell has trimmed down about eight pounds to 224 in hopes of lifting his average from its career low of .237.

Shepard plans to take some of the catching weight off Jerry May and will give Manny Sanguillen, a .316 hitter at Columbus, a chance to share the job.

Bunning was the big man last spring but his dismal 4-14 year dropped him back with the others. The 37-year-old right-hander is confident he can regain his old form.

The starters figure to be lefty Bob Veale, Steve Blass, Bob Moose, Dock Ellis and Bunning. Ron Kline and Bruce Dal Canton will be the right-handed relief men and Jim Shellenback and Luke Walker the southpaws.

Sisk, the No. 4 starter last year, has to fit into the picture and Chuck Hartenstein, former Cub, can win a job.

Sorenson Gets Double Honors At OSU Fete

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State junior Dave Sorenson won double honors at the OSU basketball banquet Monday when he was named captain of next year's team and elected most valuable player of the year.

The 6-foot-8 native of Findlay started every game for the Bucks in the past two years and averaged 23.6 points a game. This year he led the team in every category except free throws, a record held by junior Jody Finney, who has a .900 shot avreage.

Senators' Road Uphill Despite Williams' Touch

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — First baseman Mike Epstein had just checked in at the Washington camp when Manager Ted Williams asked him to step into his office.

"He said hello," said Epstein. "I said hello. He said, 'Let's get down to some serious baseball talk. And he proceeded to ask me what I try to do when I'm up at the plate."

"Ted Williams," replied Epstein, "gives you that impression no matter what he's talking about."

Call it his exuberance, his knowledge, his presence— whatever it is—there is a feeling beginning to grow at this camp that those assets will enable Williams to get the most out of what abilities the Senators have.

And what abilities do they have?

After less than two short weeks of eyeing the material on hand, Williams Says:

"I don't want to make the mistake of going overboard too soon— a mistake even experienced baseball managers make. But there are some guys out there who look like they can do it."

Some of the guys out there pulled the Senators to a tie for sixth place two years ago, but some of those same guys let the club drift into last place in 1968 despite the fact Frank Howard led the majors in homers with 44.

What Williams sees—and can't understand—is a catcher like Paul Casanova who was on the All-Star in 1967 and back in the minors last year, a pitcher like Phil Ortega who won only one game after May last year and a guy with Epstein's credentials who hit just .234.

The Senators' strong point last year was an outfield composed of Howard, who hit those 44 homers, drove in 106 runs and hit .274; and two newcomers—Del Unser and Brant Alyea. They just might remain as a unit.

There also are two good-looking young prospects—Tom Grieve, who hit .296 at Burlington, N.C. and .290 at Salisbury, N.C., and Gene Martin, who hit .259 with Burlington but showed power with 15 homers and 39 RBI. With Howard an established power hitter, Williams undoubtedly would like to find someone to complement him—and it just could be Epstein, who hit at a .276 clip with 12 homers after returning from the minors.

The rest of the infield is veteran with Bernie allen at second base, Ed Brinkman at short and Ken McMullen at third. Two others who might break in are Dick Billings, .276 with 11 homers and 35 RBI at Buffalo, and Hank Allen, the brother of Philadelphia's Richie Allen.

The big winner last year was the veteran Camilo Pascual, with a 13-12 record. The rest of the starting staff—Frank Bertaina, Joe Coleman, Jim Hannan, Barry Moore and Ortega—let much to be desired, although Hannan was 10-6 after being recalled from Buffalo.

It's a staff with which Williams will be challenging what is considered the tougher of the two divisions that will make up the American League this year. The Senators are in with pennant- winning Detroit, Baltimore, Cleveland, Boston and New York—the first five teams last year.

Making an impression in those circles may just be a little tougher than making one with Epstein.

Injuries Plagued Pirates In Shepard's First Year

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — When Larry Shepard got the word from Joe Brown, Pittsburgh general manager, that he was rehired for another term as manager of the Pirates, he called up his wife.

"We're going to be back in Pittsburgh," said Shepard with a lilt in his voice.

"That's nice," replied Mrs. Shepard.

"Don't you understand, honey," said Shepard. "I've been rehired."

"If that's what you want, it's fine. I just don't want to put in another year like last year."

It was that kind of a year for the Shepard family—Larry, wife Joyce and Larry, Jr., his 13-year-old son.

"I managed 19 years," said Shepard, "and I never had one like that. I begin to wonder if St. Jude had left me."

Gene Alley couldn't throw. Bill Mazeroski couldn't run. Roberto Clemente hurt his shoulder and couldn't take his normal swing. Willie Stargell ran into a wall.

Freddie Patek, Alley's standin, was hit by a pitch. Jim Bunning pulled a muscle and then sprained an ankle. Tommie Sisk twisted an ankle. It was a wonder Shepard didn't cut his throat.

After waiting all these years to get a chance to manage in the big leagues, Shepard found himself the boss of a walking hospital. The Pirates, picked by the writers to finish second to St. Louis, trundled home sixth, 17 games back.

"I still think we had the material to compete with anybody in the National League," said Shepard, "but everything went wrong."

"This year I hope we can find a little more sting. And we're going to spend more time on fundamentals.

"I don't know yet how the kids will work out. We have to replace both Maury Wills and Donn Clendenon, who went in the expansion draft. If the big guys can help carry the load and if we can avoid those injuries, we should be all right."

Shepard has two youngsters —Al Oliver and Bob Robertson fighting for Clendon's old first base job. Oliver hit .315 with 14 homers at Columbus in Triple A.

Robertson missed the 1968 season because of surgery for a kidney ailment but he hit with power in four previous years in the minors. They may platoon the job.

Wills' successor probably will be Richie Hebner, who batted .276 at Columbus last year.

The old problems of '68 came back to haunt Shepard in spring training when Alley, his regular shortstop, was sent to Norristown, Pa. for observation for a mysterious shoulder ailment. Alley hurt the shoulder in late '67 and had trouble putting anything on the ball last year, while slumping to .245.

Patek, the 5-foot-4, might mite, may become the regular.

Mazeroski never was able to shake off a bad muscle pull last year and was unable to work himself into top condition. A winter of rest has restored the Maz of old. "He got up to 195 and ground balls even went through his legs," said Shepard. Now he's down to 185."

Clemente, a four-time batting champion, took it easy all winter. The shoulder injury, that resulted from a fall at his home a year ago, apparently has healed. He has been stinging the ball in practice.

His .291 last season represented a 66-point drop from his leading .357 in 1967. The shoulder also handicapped his throwing.

Stargell has trimmed down about eight pounds to 224 in hopes of lifting his average from its career low of .237.

Shepard plans to take some of the catching weight off Jerry May and will give Manny Sanguillen, a .316 hitter at Columbus, a chance to share the job.

Bunning was the big man last spring but his dismal 4-14 year dropped him back with the others. The 37-year-old right-hander is confident he can regain his old form.

The starters figure to be lefty Bob Veale, Steve Blass, Bob Moose, Dock Ellis and Bunning. Ron Kline and Bruce Dal Canton will be the right-handed relief men and Jim Shellenback and Luke Walker the southpaws.

Sisk, the No. 4 starter last year, has to fit into the picture and Chuck Hartenstein, former Cub, can win a job.

Sorenson Gets Double Honors At OSU Fete

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State junior Dave Sorenson won double honors at the OSU basketball banquet Monday when he was named captain of next year's team and elected most valuable player of the year.

The 6-foot-8 native of Findlay started every game for the Bucks in the past two years and averaged 23.6 points a game. This year he led the team in every category except free throws, a record held by junior Jody Finney, who has a .900 shot avreage.

Senators' Road Uphill Despite Williams' Touch

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — First baseman Mike Epstein had just checked in at the Washington camp when Manager Ted Williams asked him to step into his office.

"He said hello," said Epstein. "I said hello. He said, 'Let's get down to some serious baseball talk. And he proceeded to ask me what I try to do when I'm up at the plate."

"Ted Williams," replied Epstein, "gives you that impression no matter what he's talking about."

Call it his exuberance, his knowledge, his presence— whatever it is—there is a feeling beginning to grow at this camp that those assets will enable Williams to get the most out of what abilities the Senators have.

And what abilities do they have?

After less than two short weeks of eyeing the material on hand, Williams Says:

"I don't want to make the mistake of going overboard too soon— a mistake even experienced baseball managers make. But there are some guys out there who look like they can do it."

Some of the guys out there pulled the Senators to a tie for sixth place two years ago, but some of those same guys let the club drift into last place in 1968 despite the fact Frank Howard led the majors in homers with 44.

What Williams sees—and can't understand—is a catcher like Paul Casanova who was on the All-Star in 1967 and back in the minors last year, a pitcher like Phil Ortega who won only one game after May last year and a guy with Epstein's credentials who hit just .234.

The Senators' strong point last year was an outfield composed of Howard, who hit those 44 homers, drove in 106 runs and hit .274; and two newcomers—Del Unser and Brant Alyea. They just might remain as a unit.

There also are two good-looking young prospects—Tom Grieve, who hit .296 at Burlington, N.C. and .290 at Salisbury, N.C., and Gene Martin, who hit .259 with Burlington but showed power with 15 homers and 39 RBI. With Howard an established power hitter, Williams undoubtedly would like to find someone to complement him—and it just could be Epstein, who hit at a .276 clip with 12 homers after returning from the minors.

The rest of the infield is veteran with Bernie allen at second base, Ed Brinkman at short and Ken McMullen at third. Two others who might break in are Dick Billings, .276 with 11 homers and 35 RBI at Buffalo, and Hank Allen, the brother of Philadelphia's Richie Allen.

The big winner last year was the veteran Camilo Pascual, with a 13-12 record. The rest of the starting staff—Frank Bertaina, Joe Coleman, Jim Hannan, Barry Moore and Ortega—let much to be desired, although Hannan was 10-6 after being recalled from Buffalo.

It's a staff with which Williams will be challenging what is considered the tougher of the two divisions that will make up the American League this year. The Senators are in with pennant- winning Detroit, Baltimore, Cleveland, Boston and New York—the first five teams last year.

Making an impression in those circles may just be a little tougher than making one with Epstein.

TIRED OF BOUNCING AROUND?
LOOKING FOR A "HOME?"

We're a big time company—($70,000,000) in sales — but we have a small town philosophy. (Maybe that's how we got to be big). We don't promise the moon. If you have the ability and you're willing to work hard, you'll make a good buck with us. Not a fortune—although some of our women do realize as much as $15,000. However, most of our beginning women are in the $7,-9,000 category! But one of the good things about Famous Schools is that almost every saleswoman increases her income year after year.

Many of our sales people have been with us fifteen years. They tell us they have found a "home" and we're tickled they did. Maybe Famous Schools is the spot for you, if you're really looking for a lifetime career opportunity.

As part of Famous Schools youthful sales team you will be supplied with qualified leads from our national advertising. You've seen our ads in Life, Look, Reader's Digest and on TV.

Famous Artists, Famous Writers, and famous Photographers, Schools . . . the Famous Schools, Westport, Connecticut, offers America's most distinguished faculty including: Norman Rockwell, Jon Whitcomb, Rod Serling, Bennett Cerf, Faith Baldwin, Richard Avedon, Bert Stern, Irving Penn.

The ideal woman is over 21 years of age, owns a good serviceable car, is bondable and can do some traveling

In addition to high commissions you receive full company benefits including major medical policy and company paid insurance. Sound interesting? We think it should. If you want an income, security and time to spend with your family.

Junior Editors Quiz on EVERGREENS

ANSWER: Trees are divided into the broad-leaf and the narrow-leaf kinds, as seen on the left and right sides of the picture. Both types have chlorophyll in their leaves, which enables them to manufacture plant food. However, leaves of the broad type are not equipped to survive during the severe cold of northern winter. Frost would ruin them and snow would weigh them down, breaking the tree. So, broad-leaf trees in the north shed their leaves in the fall and lie dormant until spring. Leaves of the narrower type, however, are equipped to survive the winter. The chlorophyll in them withdraws from the surface and huddles in clumps where winter conditions will not affect it. The narrow shape of these leaves helps shed snow and presents far less surface to the weather than a broad leaf does. Furthermore, evergreen leaves are often leathery and coated with a weather-resistant waxy substance. These leaves do not make food during the winter. Most remain on the twigs, ready to go to work when it becomes spring.

(Daureen Nanna of Santa Cruz, Calif., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, March 11, the 70th day of 1969. There are 295 days left in the year.

On this date in 1794, the U.S. Navy was founded. Congress authorized the building of six ships.

In 1810, Emperor Napoleon of France was married in Vienna — by prozy — to Archduchess Marie Louise of Austria.

In 1888, the famous "Blizzard of '88" began along the U.S. East Coast. More than 200 persons lost their lives as snow piled up to the second floor of some buildings in New York and other cities.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Senate passed a bill authorizing statehood for Hawaii. House approval came one day later.

B.F.Goodrich Geon VINYLS

VINYL is the product that was developed to do the impossible jobs that most other materials could not do. For example, its resistance to heat and high dielectric strength makes it ideal for insulating wires and cables. Its resistance to low concentrations of specific acids and chemicals has made it an outstanding material for piping. This product of the future is available for your home now. It never needs painting because the color is solid through and through. The solid vinyl does not conduct heat easily or transfer cold. This keeps your home warmer in winter and cooler in summer. Learn how solid vinyl can save you money year after year. Mail the postage free card today.
